Tientsin Given Up As Lost By China's Heads

Officials Hurry From Nanking In Great Numbers

NANKING, Wednesday, Jan. 12 (AP)—Official government quarters today regarded Tientsin as lost to the Chinese Communists, but a military spokesman said some fighting continues at the great north China city.

The military spokesman denied knowledge that a ceasefire had been arranged. However, other official sources said Tuesday:

"Tientsin is gone."

The military spokesman denied also that remnants of Gen. Tu Li-Ming's armies, trapped in a shrinking pocket southwest of Suchow for weeks, had been wiped out—as claimed by the Reds. He insisted that Tu's troops had broken encirclement and were attempting to fight their way southward.

(In the past, the military spokesman has continued to deny Communist successes long after they are verified elsewhere in the government.)

The words of other government sources indicated Tuesday that Tientsin either had been occupied by the Reds or that surrender terms have been arranged.

Heavy Fighting Reported

(Earlier, Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa in Peiping said heavy fighting was reported in Tientsin's eastern and western suburbs. Red artillery shells were bursting inside the city.

(Moosa reported only minor clashes around peiping. He wrote that "everyone here still expects a political settlement."

(The Communist radio, however, continued to belabor Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, the North China Commander in Peiping. It accused him of "continuing to kell people, burn down whole villages and destroy state property."

(The broadcast, heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco, asserted Fu "is carrying on these criminal activities at the same time as his 'peace' clamors, just as Chiang Kai-Shek is doing.")

With the news bad from North China, and continued Red attacks on the northern approaches to Nanking, the exodus of officials, archives and equipment continued at a fast pace.

The refusal of the Communists to answer President Chiang Kai-Shek's peace message favorably, or to acknowledge other pleas for negotiations was believed accelerating the departure of ministry personnel.

One official estimated that far more than half the government's official personnel had vanished. Most of the officials were heading for Formosa or Canton in South China. Others simply went back home.

Technically, all ministries remain, because the great seals for stamping all official documents were here. Actually, only the most important functions of government were continuing.

A reliable source said the Ministry of Health would be transferred en masse to Canton tomorrow.

Factories Loaded For Shipment

The equipment of four government-owned factories, as well as key personnel, were loaded aboard a special steamship for transfer to Formosa.

Many minor employes will stay in Nanking. As one employe put it: "If whatever power takes over doesn't want me, I'll go back to my native home. But I'll not become a political refugee from my own country."

The air still was full of peace

Congress Opposes Hiking Tax Rates Of Middle Class

Would Get Revenue From Corporations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—Congressional leaders said today they will refuse to support any new taxes which fall directly on middle and low income groups.

Except for a small increase in Social Security levies, they said any new revenues must come from corporation profits and personal incomes above $10,000 a year.

Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., warned that any new levies "will fall, directly, upon all the people of the country."

Bridges Opposes New Taxes

Bridges said he will oppose new taxes in any form, and will seek substantial cuts in President Truman's record peacetime budget. He added:

"Mr. Truman's staggering budget will not provide the answer to the day's problems, and the burden of debt and taxes will force the country backward."

On the majority side, there was mounting pressure in Congress to increase the Truman budget still further, accompanied by a backflow of sentiment for slashing his tax requests.

The most influential legislators in both Houses of Congress agreed that "we will be doing well" if a balanced budget emerges from the two conflicting trends.

On the spending side, they predicted that the most pressure to raise Mr. Truman's budget figures will come through proposals to:

1. Provide more than the 48 air force groups he recommended.

2. Raise farm price supports and increase the amount for rural electrification.

3. Expanded the program for building veteran's hospitals.

Sentiment Cited

Concerning the President's proposals for four billion dollars in new taxes—actually six billion dollars if the recommended Social Security "contributions" are included—the leaders said sentiment in Congress is for:

1. A moderate increase in corporation taxes raising less than two billion dollars.

2. A mild increase in the tax rate on personal incomes above $10,000, to make the total additional revenue from direct levies about two and one-half billion dollars.

3. A small increase in Social Security levies—less than the two billion dollars the President favors.

There was no suggestion among leaders that the President's budget of nearly 42 billions could be cut.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D) Mont., new majority policy chairman, said he thought Mr. Truman had set "an extraordinarily low figure for what the country has to do."

Black Dahlia Suspect Held

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11 (INS)—Los Angeles police today jailed one "red hot" suspect in the mutilation murder of Elizabeth "Black Dahlia" Short and opened a nationwide manhunt for a second man.

Police said suspect number one, Leslie Dillon, a 27-year-old bellhop, broke down after all night questioning and named a Jeff Connors. Connors now is sought for questioning in the death of the 22-year-old beauty.

Police said that Dillon described Connors as "about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, with brown hair and blue eyes."

Authorities said that every effort will be made to find Connors.

Dillon, tabbed the "hottest suspect in the case so far," was booked for murder.

Police Chief C. B. Horrall said that the person identified by Dillon "would be capable of committing this crime."

The police chief, who has questioned hundreds of suspects in the two-year old mutilation murder, declared:

"This new suspect knew Elizabeth Short. It is up to us to attempt to locate this man from the addresses and descriptions given us by Dillon. This will prove or disprove Dillon's story."

The "Black Dahlia" was found slain January 15, 1947. Her body had been dismembered and indications were that she had been subjected to tortures "of the most revolting sort."

Dillon, who was working as a bellhop at a Santa Monica Hotel, was arrested after a fantastic chain of circumstances.

20 Are Injured In Derailment Of Crack Train

GROVERLAND, Fla., Jan. 11 (INS)—Several cars of the Seaboard Railway's Miami-to-New York streamliner, the "Orange Blossom Special," were derailed southwest of Groveland tonight, causing injuries to at least 20 persons.

The accident was the second within two days for the crack seaboard train, which encountered a similar derailment in Virginia yesterday while enroute from New York to Miami.

A railway official said the injured persons were taken to two hospitals in Leesburg, 16 miles north of the accident scene.

AFL Fights 'One Pack' Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—AFL leaders sought today to rally Congressional support for their fight against a "one-package" labor bill which would repeal the Taft-Hartley Law and restore the New Deal Wagner Act in amended form.

Organized labor wants Taft-Hartley repealed, to be sure, but union spokesmen maintain that the changes should be made in stages with the 1947 Taft-Hartley Law wiped off the books first. Since the Taft-Hartley Law was an amendment to the Wagner Act, that action would restore the latter measure to its original form. Congress then could proceed to consider changes in it.

President Truman has asked changes which would ban jurisdictional strikes (growing out of quarrels between unions over the right to do certain work). He also has asked power to deal with strikes that would endanger the national welfare.

AFL officials plan to lay their case tomorrow before Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Labor Committee. Last week Thomas introduced a bill to repeal all but

3 Die In Airlift Crash

WIESBADEN, Jan. 12, (Wednesday)—(INS)—An American Airlift C-54 plane crashed early this morning two miles east of the German Rhine-Main airport, killing all three crew members.

The plane was en route to Wiesbaden from Berlin when the accident occurred.

Nation In Grip Of 'Big Freeze' And 'Heat Wave'

California Hit By Record Snow Fall

Winter draped a 1,000-mile long blanket of ice across the nation's midriff Tuesday and buried Southern California under probably the worst snow cover in its history.

And to round out its screwy antics, it kept much of the southeast in a "heat wave."

The ice sheath extended from Western Oklahoma to Eastern Illinois. In some areas it blacked out towns, snapped communications lines and forced school closings. Highway travel was hazardous throughout the entire section.

Snow Up To Six Inches

As a winter playground, the Los Angles area looked more like St. Moritz. Snow up to six inches deep covered several suburban communities. More than two inches carpeted Pasadena's Colorado Boulevard, where the Tournament of Roses floral parade was staged less than two weeks ago.

Icy highways forced many Los Angeles night workers to make wide detours to reach their suburban homes. Snow-covered tree branches snapped under the weight. The temperature skidded to 14 degrees at Searsville Lake, near the Stanford University campus.

Freezing temperatures in the citrus belt brought new threat of damage to the frost-bitten fruit and vegetable crops. However, at Sacramento, R. E. Blair, state fruit and nut statistician, said on-the-spot experts believe loss to the citrus crop may be less than 25 per cent.

Growers had been warned of another severe freeze, but the overcast accompanying the snow kept temperatures close to the freezing mark. Smudging to avert freeze damage was necessary in only a few isolated districts. However, limbs of some orange tree cracked under the weight of the snow, adding to previous damage.

Power Failure Reported

Many power failures were reported in the Missouri-Kansas-Oklahomas area. Hundreds of telephone poles toppled under the weights of the ice. Nearly 300 long distance circuits were out in Missouri and some in Central Illinois. Three Missouri Pacific passenger trains were

Forrestal Says He Will Remain In New Cabinet

Backer Of 'Tough' Russian Policy To Stay In Defense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal, one of the foremost backers of the "tough" policy toward Russia, said today he expects to remain at his post in President Truman's cabinet. He did not say how long.

Forrestal's disclosure to newsmen followed a conference with Mr. Truman at the White House.

Reports have been widely current that his departure from the Cabinet was imminent, but today he said he does not expect Mr. Truman to accept his "routine" resignation which he will submit before inauguration day, January 20.

Resignations Are Traditional

Traditionally, all Cabinet members offer their resignations to a newly-elected President, so that he can start with a new slate, if he desires, and to spare him any embarrassment in Cabinet shakeups.

Forrestal's remarks did not foreclose the possibility that he might leave the Washington scene later, possibly in the spring.

But the development did add another to the multiplying signs that Mr. Truman plans no about-face in policy toward Russia.

The President emphatically denied last week that he was engaged in a fight with Forrestal and others in his Cabinet to soften the U. S. attitude toward the Soviets.

The purported Cabinet row was described in a Life Magazine article by Jay Franklin, newspaper columnist. Franklin linked Forrestal and the retiring Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett with U. S. oil and munitions interests which he said have a "vested interest" in pursuing the cold war.

Forrestal is a former president of the big banking firm of Dillon, Read and Company.

Mr. Truman told his news conference on January 7 that Franklin's article lacked foundation in fact in nearly every instance and paragraph. Moreover, the President said, there is no change in this country's foreign policy.

Kept Out Of Campaign

Widespread conjecture about Forrestal's political future arose during the heat of the election last fall.

At that time, it was noted that Forrestal kept strictly out of the campaign picture, and, unlike some other Cabinet officers and top administration officials, made no stumping tour on behalf of Mr. Truman.

However, Forrestal's friends

Argentina To Make Citizenship 'Must'

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 11 (AP)—Argentina's huge foreign population faced expulsion or forced naturalization under a constitutional amendment proposed by President Juan Peron today.

The proposal, read by the President to 109 Peronista delegates to the Constituent Assembly at the President's summer palace, would compel foreigners to apply for Argentine citizenship after two years residence or leave the country.

The plan had the advance support of the Peronista party which holds all but 49 of the seats in the assembly. The assembly, elected last December, begins rewriting the 95-year-old constitution Monday, January 17.

Foreign diplomats were amazed by the proposal which would affect about 30,000 Britons, 4,000 United States citizens and hundreds of thousands of South Americans and Europeans who have come here to work and do business.

It would reverse Argentina's policy of granting almost full rights of citizenship to foreigners without requiring naturalization. That policy has attracted millions of immigrants.

One diplomat, who declined use of his name, said the proposal in its present form was "ludicrous."

NEEDS TRAIN FARE-- Vicki Evans, 25-year-old night club dancer who failed to appear Monday in a California court where she is involved in a marijuana case with movie star Robert Mitchum and two others, talked things over with her attorney, Martin Benjamin, in New York yesterday and said she is anxious to return to California to "clear my name." She said she needs train fare to make the trip.

Mitchum Starts Picture As He Awaits Sentence

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (INS)—Film Star Robert Mitchum, facing a possible six-year prison sentence for his conviction on a narcotics charge, went back before the cameras today as if nothing had happened.

Mitchum performed his usual sardonic movie mannerisms for his forthcoming $750,000 thriller, "The Big Steal." He portrays a government agent out to clear himself of an unjust accusation that he stole a fortune in Army occupation money.

Mitchum, nabbed in a marijuana smoking party last labor day, is scheduled to appear in court February 9 for sentencing.

Truman's Pay Hike Slated For Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. (AP)—A bill to boost the President's salary to $100,000 a year was okayed by the Senate Civil Service Committee today and slated for probable passage Thursday.

The measure, approved 10 to one in the committee, also carries hefty pay hikes for the Vice-President, cabinet members and other top government officials.

Chairman Johnston (D-SC) of the Civil Service Commission told reporters he sees "no reason why the bill should not pass Thursday in the Senate."

In addition to raising the President's salary from $75,000 to $100,000 a year, the bill would give him a tax-free expense allowance of $50,000. This would be in addition to the $40,000 he now receives for travel expense and White House maintenance.

The salaries of the Vice-President and Speaker of the House would be boosted from $20,000 to $30,000, and each would get $10,000 tax-free expense money. The speaker gets a $2,500 expense fund now. None is provided the Vice-President.

The question has been raised as to whether Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) would be eligible for the increase now since he already has been sworn into office.

Senator O'Conor (D-Md), one of the bill's sponsors, said the committee has "legal opinion" that Rayburn is not prohibited from receiving a pay increase during his present term.

Thomas Gets Transfusion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Rep. J Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) received a blood transfusion at Walter Reed Hospital today, according to his aides, but there was no announcement concerning his condition.

Brands British Action In East 'Inflammatory'

Seeks Council Session On Eve Of Peace Talks

LONDON, Jan. 11 (INS)—Israel moved tonight to arraign Britain before a special U. N. Security Council session for "inflammatory action" in Palestine on the eve of Jewish-Egyptian armistice talks at Rhodes.

Surprised British spokesmen reacted with a mixture of restraint, cynicism and anger.

The British Air Ministry in another communique said a recheck of RAF pilots confirmed that the Jews shot down five RAF planes last Friday "over Egypt"—with which Britain has a mutual air treaty—and not over Palestine.

Termed "Old Dodge"

Informed quarters termed the Jewish political offensive at U. N. headquarters "one of the oldest known dodges — to accuse rather than excuse" themselves.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain "fully reserves her position for future action." He added that Britain is exercising "great restraint" to avoid any action which might wreck successful armistice negotiations on the Mediterranean Island of Rhodes.

Acting U. N. Mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche who arrived by plane in Athens en route to Rhodes said no other Arab countries besides Egypt have been invited to the talks.

Israel instructed its Lake Success representative to ask U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie to call an extraordinary Security Council session. This was preliminary to filing a complaint against Britain for "provocative and inflammatory" action in "sending armed reconnaissance flights over Israeli positions."

The Jews also said there is a danger of British armed intervention in Palestine in the dispatch of troops to Aqaba Port in neighboring Trans-Jordan.

Israeli representative Aubrey Eban handed his appeal to Council President Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada, basing it on Article 34 of the charter. This gives the council power to investigate situations endangering international peace.

Instructions Kept Secret

The London Foreign Office spokesman did not disclose what instructions have been sent to British Council Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan, but he said of "British restraint" that:

"One of the great dangers of the situation lies in the fact that the Security Council has been losing control of events.

"It is of paramount importance that this authority should be re-established without delay and maintained until a final settlement is reached."

The spokesman asserted that Mediator Bunche's own reports "leave no room for doubt that the present crisis is the outcome of Jewish aggression.

"The Jews have made incursions into Egyptian territory and still are occupying Lebanese territory."

Authoritative Britons said there still is reason to believe the Jews may plan further attacks—against Trans-Jordan or Iraqi forces—in violation of U. N. cease-fire and withdrawal orders.

They pointed out that Jewish forces which shot down the British planes near the Egyptian-Palestine frontier last week were 40 miles from the mid-October truce lines to which they refused to withdraw on council orders.

Soviets Would War For 'Ism', Lovett Asserts

Declares Russia Will Fight To Attain End

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett was quoted as saying today that Soviet leaders would go to war whenever they deemed it necessary to attain their Communistic ends—and whenever they felt they could win.

Lovett, who has resigned effective January 20, reported on the general world situation to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Members quoted him as stressing that Premier Stalin dominates the 14-man Politburo which determines Russian actions at home and abroad.

Would Take Any Course

Further, they said Lovett expressed the belief that the Politburo will take any course necessary to retain power and perpetuate Communism, including war. He said that this contrasts with this country's policy of doing all possible to avoid a resort to arms as a means of settling international difficulties.

The committee had called in Lovett for an up-to-date estimate of world conditions on which to base legislative plans looking toward settlement of problems barring the way to universal peace.

Lovett is to be succeeded as undersecretary by James E. Webb in the State Department shift which will bring Dean Acheson in as replacement for ailing Secretary Marshall.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said the committee will open public hearings Thursday on Acheson's nomination, with Acheson scheduled as the first witness. He predicted the committee would wind up the hearings in two days and have a report ready for the Senate early next week.

Connally said separate hearings will be held on Webb's appointment as Undersecretary. While there appears little opposition to Webb's shift from his present budget bureau post, some Republicans have been critical of the Acheson appointment.

Cautions Against Fight

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), the chief GOP foreign policy spokesman, however is reported to have cautioned his colleagues against stirring up a fight which might lessen Acheson's usefulness in future international negotiations.

One of the chief tasks which will confront Acheson, provided he is confirmed by the Senate, will be completion of negotiations for a North Atlantic Defense Alliance. Lovett has been supervising the months-long talks with representatives of Canada and the five-nation Western European union.

Lovett was expected to give the Foreign Relations Committee a fill-in on the proposed pact since that group must pass on any such treaty. Latest word is that the agreement may be ready for Senate action by February 1.

Lawyer Declines Divorce Case, Is Shot To Death

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan 11 (AP) — Earl Pruet, prominent Oklahoma City attorney, was shot to death in his office today.

The killer escaped.

Witnesses said an elderly man walked into the law office and asked Pruet to handle his divorce case.

"I don't do that type of work," Pruet answered, "but maybe I can fix you up."

The lawyer then started to walk through the office, the visitor whipped out a pistol and fired four or five shots.

2 White Men Free In Lynch Slaying

LYONS, Ga., Jan. 11 (INS)—Two white men were cleared quickly today in the alleged lynch slaying of Robert Mallard, negro casket salesman.

A Tombs County Court Jury exonerated William Howell, a farmer, in 26 minutes.

Judge R. H. Humphrey then dropped further action against Roderick Hill Clifton, an auto salesman, whose trial was scheduled to follow Howell's.

Clifton and Howell were charged with murder in the mysterious shooting of Mallard last November 20.

Howell's trial reached its height with the collapse of Mallard's widow after she pointed to the white farmer as a member of the robed mob which she claimed killed her husband.

Howell denied participation in the slaying.

Two of the jurors, L. J. Usher and J. W. Currie, were called to the witness stand at one point of the trial. Both testified for the defense.

Each of the jurymen said that the Mallard woman had a "bad reputation," and added they would not believe her testimony.

State's Attorneys did not protest the action, explaining it was not unusual for the jurors to become character witnesses.

The defense lawyers for Clifton protested the judge's ruling that nolle prossed further hearing.

Judge Humphrey explained, however, that the solicitor was only "doing his duty" in requesting the ruling.

Senate Janitor Held In Theft Of Ham, Shoes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—A Senate office building janitor was jailed today for making off with Senator Bridges' shoes and a prize ham belonging to Vice President-Elect Barkley.

Police said the janitor, William Dudley, 36, negro, admitted a series of petty midnight thefts in which he accumulated "enough stuff to start a general store."

There was nothing petty, however, about his distinguish victims.

MD. Legislature

GOP Will Support Mental Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Republicans in Maryland's Legislature promised their support today for any Democratic program for improving mental hospitals "if it is adequate."

The Democratic majority told them to be patient, that Governor Lane and his party are fully aware of the job to be done .

The Democrats also admonished the minority that the matter of bettering the condition of mental patients scarcely can be considered a party issue.

The Republicans touched off discussion in both Houses after a party confab in the office of Senate Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany).

Kimble in the Senate and Minority Leader Ramsburg (R-Frederick) in the House said they wanted to make the Republican position clear.

Both told their respective Houses: "In deference to his Excellency, the Governor, we shall await with interest his report and recommendations.

"If his program is adequate, we promise whole-hearted support to see that it is enacted into law. If it is inadequate, we promise likewise our strong and best efforts to have these deplorable conditions wiped from the record of the State of Maryland."

Senate President Byrnes closed a lengthy discussion in the Senate with the observation that "it is pleasing to hear these expressions of confidence in the Governor. We can leave this particular problem to him at this time. He will work on this with ability and zeal."

Delegate Luber (D-Balto fifth) replied to Ramsburg in the House by saying that "the Governor will meet this fairly and squarely. You can be sure that sound legislation will be brought to this floor."

Mental hospitals and the conditions in them have been referred to often in the last two days. The speakers have based their remarks on a series of articles in the Baltimore Sunpapers describing overcrowding and lack of sufficient

Governor Lane himself said today that admittedly the state's hospital need a great deal of improvement, but at the same time Maryland is high among the 48 states in what it does do.

He is to give the Legislature a special message in the institutions but said the date was undecided. It will be some time after the budget goes in January 25.

Talk about hospitals occupied most of the brief sessions. Both Houses were through shortly after 3 p. m., receiving only a few minor bills

Senators and delegates made for a journey tomorrow to Sandy Point with Governor Lane to celebrate the start of work on the big Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

The Senate give-and -take over mental hospitals was started by Kimble, who said that the Democrats had a responsibility to formulate a legislative program. He hoped that Lane would offer his hospital program as "early as possible" and put it at the top of the list.

"A program to correct the inhuman treatment of these sick men, women and children cannot be passed overnight," he said. " We need time for study and consideration. If the governor's program is not forthcoming after a reasonable time, the minority party will have to come forth with its own recommendations."

Senator Stromberg (D-Howard), acting in the absence of Majority Leader Sothoron, told the Senate that "we do not want to be swept off our feet."

"I hope that both parties will treat it as a Maryland problem and not as a partisan one," Stromberg added.

"This problem does not belong to the Republicans or Democrats any more than the wind belongs to the Republicans—or does it?"

He assured the Senate that Lane would have a program soon.

20 Are Injured In Derailment Of Crack Train

GROVERLAND, Fla., Jan. 11 (INS)—Several cars of the Seaboard Railway's Miami-to-New York streamliner, the "Orange Blossom Special," were derailed southwest of Groveland tonight, causing injuries to at least 20 persons.

The accident was the second within two days for the crack seaboard train, which encountered a similar derailment in Virginia yesterday while enroute from New York to Miami.

A railway official said the injured persons were taken to two hospitals in Leesburg, 16 miles north of the accident scene.

AFL Fights 'One Pack' Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—AFL leaders sought today to rally Congressional support for their fight against a "one-package" labor bill which would repeal the Taft-Hartley Law and restore the New Deal Wagner Act in amended form.

Organized labor wants Taft-Hartley repealed, to be sure, but union spokesmen maintain that the changes should be made in stages with the 1947 Taft-Hartley Law wiped off the books first. Since the Taft-Hartley Law was an amendment to the Wagner Act, that action would restore the latter measure to its original form. Congress then could proceed to consider changes in it.

President Truman has asked changes which would ban jurisdictional strikes (growing out of quarrels between unions over the right to do certain work). He also has asked power to deal with strikes that would endanger the national welfare.

AFL officials plan to lay their case tomorrow before Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Labor Committee. Last week Thomas introduced a bill to repeal all but

3 Die In Airlift Crash

WIESBADEN, Jan. 12, (Wednesday)—(INS)—An American Airlift C-54 plane crashed early this morning two miles east of the German Rhine-Main airport, killing all three crew members.

The plane was en route to Wiesbaden from Berlin when the accident occurred.

Nation In Grip Of 'Big Freeze' And 'Heat Wave'

California Hit By Record Snow Fall

Winter draped a 1,000-mile long blanket of ice across the nation's midriff Tuesday and buried Southern California under probably the worst snow cover in its history.

And to round out its screwy antics, it kept much of the southeast in a "heat wave."

The ice sheath extended from Western Oklahoma to Eastern Illinois. In some areas it blacked out towns, snapped communications lines and forced school closings. Highway travel was hazardous throughout the entire section.

Snow Up To Six Inches

As a winter playground, the Los Angles area looked more like St. Moritz. Snow up to six inches deep covered several suburban communities. More than two inches carpeted Pasadena's Colorado Boulevard, where the Tournament of Roses floral parade was staged less than two weeks ago.

Icy highways forced many Los Angeles night workers to make wide detours to reach their suburban homes. Snow-covered tree branches snapped under the weight. The temperature skidded to 14 degrees at Searsville Lake, near the Stanford University campus.

Freezing temperatures in the citrus belt brought new threat of damage to the frost-bitten fruit and vegetable crops. However, at Sacramento, R. E. Blair, state fruit and nut statistician, said on-the-spot experts believe loss to the citrus crop may be less than 25 per cent.

Growers had been warned of another severe freeze, but the overcast accompanying the snow kept temperatures close to the freezing mark. Smudging to avert freeze damage was necessary in only a few isolated districts. However, limbs of some orange tree cracked under the weight of the snow, adding to previous damage.

Power Failure Reported

Many power failures were reported in the Missouri-Kansas-Oklahomas area. Hundreds of telephone poles toppled under the weights of the ice. Nearly 300 long distance circuits were out in Missouri and some in Central Illinois. Three Missouri Pacific passenger trains were

Forrestal Says He Will Remain In New Cabinet

Backer Of 'Tough' Russian Policy To Stay In Defense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal, one of the foremost backers of the "tough" policy toward Russia, said today he expects to remain at his post in President Truman's cabinet. He did not say how long.

Forrestal's disclosure to newsmen followed a conference with Mr. Truman at the White House.

Reports have been widely current that his departure from the Cabinet was imminent, but today he said he does not expect Mr. Truman to accept his "routine" resignation which he will submit before inauguration day, January 20.

Resignations Are Traditional

Traditionally, all Cabinet members offer their resignations to a newly-elected President, so that he can start with a new slate, if he desires, and to spare him any embarrassment in Cabinet shakeups.

Forrestal's remarks did not foreclose the possibility that he might leave the Washington scene later, possibly in the spring.

But the development did add another to the multiplying signs that Mr. Truman plans no about-face in policy toward Russia.

The President emphatically denied last week that he was engaged in a fight with Forrestal and others in his Cabinet to soften the U. S. attitude toward the Soviets.

The purported Cabinet row was described in a Life Magazine article by Jay Franklin, newspaper columnist. Franklin linked Forrestal and the retiring Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett with U. S. oil and munitions interests which he said have a "vested interest" in pursuing the cold war.

Forrestal is a former president of the big banking firm of Dillon, Read and Company.

Mr. Truman told his news conference on January 7 that Franklin's article lacked foundation in fact in nearly every instance and paragraph. Moreover, the President said, there is no change in this country's foreign policy.

Kept Out Of Campaign

Widespread conjecture about Forrestal's political future arose during the heat of the election last fall.

At that time, it was noted that Forrestal kept strictly out of the campaign picture, and, unlike some other Cabinet officers and top administration officials, made no stumping tour on behalf of Mr. Truman.

However, Forrestal's friends

Argentina To Make Citizenship 'Must'

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 11 (AP)—Argentina's huge foreign population faced expulsion or forced naturalization under a constitutional amendment proposed by President Juan Peron today.

The proposal, read by the President to 109 Peronista delegates to the Constituent Assembly at the President's summer palace, would compel foreigners to apply for Argentine citizenship after two years residence or leave the country.

The plan had the advance support of the Peronista party which holds all but 49 of the seats in the assembly. The assembly, elected last December, begins rewriting the 95-year-old constitution Monday, January 17.

Foreign diplomats were amazed by the proposal which would affect about 30,000 Britons, 4,000 United States citizens and hundreds of thousands of South Americans and Europeans who have come here to work and do business.

It would reverse Argentina's policy of granting almost full rights of citizenship to foreigners without requiring naturalization. That policy has attracted millions of immigrants.

One diplomat, who declined use of his name, said the proposal in its present form was "ludicrous."

NEEDS TRAIN FARE-- Vicki Evans, 25-year-old night club dancer who failed to appear Monday in a California court where she is involved in a marijuana case with movie star Robert Mitchum and two others, talked things over with her attorney, Martin Benjamin, in New York yesterday and said she is anxious to return to California to "clear my name." She said she needs train fare to make the trip.

Mitchum Starts Picture As He Awaits Sentence

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (INS)—Film Star Robert Mitchum, facing a possible six-year prison sentence for his conviction on a narcotics charge, went back before the cameras today as if nothing had happened.

Mitchum performed his usual sardonic movie mannerisms for his forthcoming $750,000 thriller, "The Big Steal." He portrays a government agent out to clear himself of an unjust accusation that he stole a fortune in Army occupation money.

Mitchum, nabbed in a marijuana smoking party last labor day, is scheduled to appear in court February 9 for sentencing.

Truman's Pay Hike Slated For Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. (AP)—A bill to boost the President's salary to $100,000 a year was okayed by the Senate Civil Service Committee today and slated for probable passage Thursday.

The measure, approved 10 to one in the committee, also carries hefty pay hikes for the Vice-President, cabinet members and other top government officials.

Chairman Johnston (D-SC) of the Civil Service Commission told reporters he sees "no reason why the bill should not pass Thursday in the Senate."

In addition to raising the President's salary from $75,000 to $100,000 a year, the bill would give him a tax-free expense allowance of $50,000. This would be in addition to the $40,000 he now receives for travel expense and White House maintenance.

The salaries of the Vice-President and Speaker of the House would be boosted from $20,000 to $30,000, and each would get $10,000 tax-free expense money. The speaker gets a $2,500 expense fund now. None is provided the Vice-President.

The question has been raised as to whether Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) would be eligible for the increase now since he already has been sworn into office.

Senator O'Conor (D-Md), one of the bill's sponsors, said the committee has "legal opinion" that Rayburn is not prohibited from receiving a pay increase during his present term.

Thomas Gets Transfusion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Rep. J Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) received a blood transfusion at Walter Reed Hospital today, according to his aides, but there was no announcement concerning his condition.

Soviets Would War For 'Ism', Lovett Asserts

Declares Russia Will Fight To Attain End

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett was quoted as saying today that Soviet leaders would go to war whenever they deemed it necessary to attain their Communistic ends—and whenever they felt they could win.

Lovett, who has resigned effective January 20, reported on the general world situation to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Members quoted him as stressing that Premier Stalin dominates the 14-man Politburo which determines Russian actions at home and abroad.

Would Take Any Course

Further, they said Lovett expressed the belief that the Politburo will take any course necessary to retain power and perpetuate Communism, including war. He said that this contrasts with this country's policy of doing all possible to avoid a resort to arms as a means of settling international difficulties.

The committee had called in Lovett for an up-to-date estimate of world conditions on which to base legislative plans looking toward settlement of problems barring the way to universal peace.

Lovett is to be succeeded as undersecretary by James E. Webb in the State Department shift which will bring Dean Acheson in as replacement for ailing Secretary Marshall.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said the committee will open public hearings Thursday on Acheson's nomination, with Acheson scheduled as the first witness. He predicted the committee would wind up the hearings in two days and have a report ready for the Senate early next week.

Connally said separate hearings will be held on Webb's appointment as Undersecretary. While there appears little opposition to Webb's shift from his present budget bureau post, some Republicans have been critical of the Acheson appointment.

Cautions Against Fight

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), the chief GOP foreign policy spokesman, however is reported to have cautioned his colleagues against stirring up a fight which might lessen Acheson's usefulness in future international negotiations.

One of the chief tasks which will confront Acheson, provided he is confirmed by the Senate, will be completion of negotiations for a North Atlantic Defense Alliance. Lovett has been supervising the months-long talks with representatives of Canada and the five-nation Western European union.

Lovett was expected to give the Foreign Relations Committee a fill-in on the proposed pact since that group must pass on any such treaty. Latest word is that the agreement may be ready for Senate action by February 1.

Lawyer Declines Divorce Case, Is Shot To Death

OKLAHOMA, CITY, Jan 11 (AP) — Earl Pruet, prominent Oklahoma City attorney, was shot to death in his office today.

The killer escaped.

Witnesses said an elderly man walked into the law office and asked Pruet to handle his divorce case.

"I don't do that type of work," Pruet answered, "but maybe I can fix you up."

The lawyer then started to walk through the office, the visitor whipped out a pistol and fired four or five shots.

Brands British Action In East 'Inflammatory'

Seeks Council Session On Eve Of Peace Talks

LONDON, Jan. 11 (INS)—Israel moved tonight to arraign Britain before a special U. N. Security Council session for "inflammatory action" in Palestine on the eve of Jewish-Egyptian armistice talks at Rhodes.

Surprised British spokesmen reacted with a mixture of restraint, cynicism and anger.

The British Air Ministry in another communique said a recheck of RAF pilots confirmed that the Jews shot down five RAF planes last Friday "over Egypt"—with which Britain has a mutual air treaty—and not over Palestine.

Termed "Old Dodge"

Informed quarters termed the Jewish political offensive at U. N. headquarters "one of the oldest known dodges — to accuse rather than excuse" themselves.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain "fully reserves her position for future action." He added that Britain is exercising "great restraint" to avoid any action which might wreck successful armistice negotiations on the Mediterranean Island of Rhodes.

Acting U. N. Mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche who arrived by plane in Athens en route to Rhodes said no other Arab countries besides Egypt have been invited to the talks.

Israel instructed its Lake Success representative to ask U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie to call an extraordinary Security Council session. This was preliminary to filing a complaint against Britain for "provocative and inflammatory" action in "sending armed reconnaissance flights over Israeli positions."

The Jews also said there is a danger of British armed intervention in Palestine in the dispatch of troops to Aqaba Port in neighboring Trans-Jordan.

Israeli representative Aubrey Eban handed his appeal to Council President Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada, basing it on Article 34 of the charter. This gives the council power to investigate situations endangering international peace.

Instructions Kept Secret

The London Foreign Office spokesman did not disclose what instructions have been sent to British Council Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan, but he said of "British restraint" that:

"One of the great dangers of the situation lies in the fact that the Security Council has been losing control of events.

"It is of paramount importance that this authority should be reestablished without delay and maintained until a final settlement is reached."

The spokesman asserted that Mediator Bunche's own reports "leave no room for doubt that the present crisis is the outcome of Jewish aggression.

"The Jews have made incursions into Egyptian territory and still are occupying Lebanese territory."

Authoritative Britons said there still is reason to believe the Jews may plan further attacks—against Trans-Jordan or Iraqi forces—in violation of U. N. cease-fire and withdrawal orders.

They pointed out that Jewish forces which shot down the British planes near the Egyptian-Palestine frontier last week were 40 miles from the mid-October truce lines to which they refused to withdraw on council orders.

2 White Men Free In Lynch Slaying

LYONS, Ga., Jan. 11 (INS)—Two white men were cleared quickly today in the alleged lynch slaying of Robert Mallard, negro casket salesman.

A Tombs County Court Jury exonerated William Howell, a farmer, in 26 minutes.

Judge R. H. Humphrey then dropped further action against Roderick Hill Clifton, an auto salesman, whose trial was scheduled to follow Howell's.

Clifton and Howell were charged with murder in the mysterious shooting of Mallard last November 20.

Howell's trial reached its height with the collapse of Mallard's widow after she pointed to the white farmer as a member of the robed mob which she claimed killed her husband.

Howell denied participation in the slaying.

Two of the jurors, L. J. Usher and J. W. Currie, were called to the witness stand at one point of the trial. Both testified for the defense.

Each of the jurymen said that the Mallard woman had a "bad reputation," and added they would not believe her testimony.

State's Attorneys did not protest the action, explaining it was not unusual for the jurors to become character witnesses.

The defense lawyers for Clifton protested the judge's ruling that nolle prossed further hearing.

Judge Humphrey explained, however, that the solicitor was only "doing his duty" in requesting the ruling.

Senate Janitor Held In Theft Of Ham, Shoes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (INS)—A Senate office building janitor was jailed today for making off with Senator Bridges' shoes and a prize ham belonging to Vice President-Elect Barkley.

Police said the janitor, William Dudley, 36, negro, admitted a series of petty midnight thefts in which he accumulated "enough stuff to start a general store."

There was nothing petty, however, about his distinguish victims.

MD. Legislature

GOP Will Support Mental Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Republicans in Maryland's Legislature promised their support today for any Democratic program for improving mental hospitals "if it is adequate."

The Democratic majority told them to be patient, that Governor Lane and his party are fully aware of the job to be done.

The Democrats also admonished the minority that the matter of bettering the condition of mental patients scarcely can be considered a party issue.

The Republicans touched off discussion in both Houses after a party confab in the office of Senate Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany).

Kimble in the Senate and Minority Leader Ramsburg (R-Frederick) in the House said they wanted to make the Republican position clear.

Both told their respective Houses: "In deference to his Excellency, the Governor, we shall await with interest his report and recommendations.

"If his program is adequate, we promise whole-hearted support to see that it is enacted into law. If it is inadequate, we promise likewise our strong and best efforts to have these deplorable conditions wiped from the record of the State of Maryland."

Senate President Byrnes closed a lengthy discussion in the Senate with the observation that "it is pleasing to hear these expressions of confidence in the Governor. We can leave this particular problem to him at this time. He will work on this with ability and zeal."

Delegate Luber (D-Balto fifth) replied to Ramsburg in the House by saying that "the Governor will meet this fairly and squarely. You can be sure that sound legislation will be brought to this floor."

Mental hospitals and the conditions in them have been referred to often in the last two days. The speakers have based their remarks on a series of articles in the Baltimore Sunpapers describing overcrowding and lack of sufficient

Governor Lane himself said today that admittedly the state's hospital need a great deal of improvement, but at the same time Maryland is high among the 48 states in what it does do.

He is to give the Legislature a special message in the institutions but said the date was undecided. It will be some time after the budget goes in January 25.

Talk about hospitals occupied most of the brief sessions. Both Houses were through shortly after 3 p. m., receiving only a few minor bills

Senators and delegates made for a journey tomorrow to Sandy Point with Governor Lane to celebrate the start of work on the big Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

The Senate give-and-take over mental hospitals was started by Kimble, who said that the Democrats had a responsibility to formulate a legislative program. He hoped that Lane would offer his hospital program as "early as possible" and put it at the top of the list.

"A program to correct the inhuman treatment of these sick men, women and children cannot be passed overnight," he said. " We need time for study and consideration. If the governor's program is not forthcoming after a reasonable time, the minority party will have to come forth with its own recommendations."

Senator Stromberg (D-Howard), acting in the absence of Majority Leader Sothoron, told the Senate that "we do not want to be swept off our feet."

"I hope that both parties will treat it as a Maryland problem and not as a partisan one," Stromberg added.

"This problem does not belong to the Republicans or Democrats any more than the wind belongs to the Republicans—or does it?"

He assured the Senate that Lane would have a program soon.

Mental Institute Needs $10,500,000 Legislators Told

CROWNSVILLE, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Legislators inspecting the Crownsville State Hospital were told today that it will take $10,500,000 to put the institution for insane negroes in "fair" condition.

Three State Senators and eleven delegates toured the institution during an "open house." They came in separate parties from Annapolis where the operation of Maryland's mental hospital has been mentioned frequently in the General Assembly this week.

Senator Barton (D-Second Balto) said " it was very, very depressing. And the people here don't know what the answer is to correct conditions. I think Governor Lane is absolutely right—this is a job for experts to solve."

Senator Dulin (D-Anne Arundel) commented "it is not half as bad as it has been pictured to the public. More space and more attendants are needed, that is the answer."

"What do we need right away to improve things," he asked Dr. Jacob Morgenstern, Crownsville Superintendent.

"Ten and a half million dollars," Morgenstern replied.

Senator Storm (D-Frederick) said he thought the staff was doing a good job with what was available, but that more space and employes are needed.

The delegates touring the institution were Banning (D-Caroline), Todd (R-Somerset), Hall (R-Calvert), Nelson (R-Talbot), Ward (R-Somerset), Hicks (R-Washington), Mattingly (D-St. Mary's), Haffman (R-Somerset), Newcomer (R-Washington), Bloom (D-Washington), and Wigley (D-Anne Arundel).

The delegates reported themselves impressed with the neatness and cleanliness but depressed by the overcrowding.

Backward Youth Held For Murder

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (AP) — Seymour Levin, 16-year-old backward student described by his attorney as "a very confused sort of little boy," today was charged formally with the scissors-slaying of a lad he knew only a few hours.

The bespectacled youth stood silently—as a municipal court judge ordered him held without bail for allegedly stabbing 12-year-old Ellis Simons until he was dead.

Army Will Close 2 Training Camps

FORT MEADE, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—Plans to close down Camp Pickett, Va., and Camp Breckenridge, Ky., were announced today by Second Army Headquarters.

Their inactivation follows a decision to eliminate the 17th Airborne Division at Camp Pickett and the 101st Airborne at Camp Breckenridge in the Army's revised expansion plans.

Both units were assigned last August to the training of recruits under Selective Service and as one-year volunteer program.

They will stop receiving new personnel next Monday but training will continue until recruits on hand at that time complete their 10 weeks of processing and basic training.

Hands Off Brother's Romance

(Q) "Dear Nancy: While I was away at college, by brother began dating a girl at home whom I know only slightly but do not like at all. He seems to be getting quite serious about her, and I definitely do not like this situation at all. I don't think she's the girl for him, and yet nothing I can say to him will make any impression. He won't stop seeing her, even though I've told him my opinion of the whole thing, and I'd like to know what I can do.

Nancy Mottram

(A) Naturally, your brother's happiness means a lot to you, but he's been seeing quite a bit of her, and you admit that you don't know her well. Before you keep on with your sisterly advice, why don't you make an effort to get to know her? You might be wrong. Too, it's not a wise thing to try to mix in his personal affairs, and take on his business as your own. Give them both a chance before you come forth with any definite opinions.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I have just agreed to go steady with a boy I've known for some time, and I've heard that since we decided to date only each other, he's been seeing another girl. I can't decide what to do—whether to come right out and ask him about this, or wait until he mentions her to me. What do you think I ought to do?

(A) If you have definite proof, instead of just hearsay, ask him about it. There's no sense in your sitting home, wondering about this state of affairs and not knowing how this steady arrangement is working out. If you're keeping your side of the bargain, it's only fair that he live up to his, too. But don't be too hasty and make any accusations, until you have something definite to back them up. When you do, that's the time to sit down with him, and thrash this thing out.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I like one certain girl very much, but I don't take her out too often for one good reason. I have a part-time job, and that folding stuff doesn't stretch over three and four dates a week. I see her just once, usually on Saturday night, and one of her friends has told me recently that she doesn't think I care too much for her because of this. It isn't the case at all, but I don't know how to explain it to her or what to do about it. Can you give me any advice?"

(A) Even if it is embarrassing to admit why you aren't calling for dates every night, it's better to come down to brass tacks than let her go on thinking it's because you don't care. She'll understand, and if dates with you mean anything to her, she'll have a few ideas of her own about cutting down the cost of your evenings out. You might have housedates, with records and snacks, now and then, and if you could make those really big evenings a rare occasion, instead of weekly, you'd be able to be together more often on just casual date.

Nancy will answer as many questions as possible in her column. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Progress Made Toward Elimination Of Smoke

Cumberland's smoke abatement campaign has, according to information made public a day or so ago, been advanced considerably, thanks to voluntary efforts on the part of railroads, public utilities and industries to bring themselves into line with the city's law against excessive smoke, fly ash and other air-polluting elements.

Such a disclosure has been made in the report just submitted by George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, to the Mayor and City Council, covering the first year of the law's life. It will be gratifying, indeed, to the people of Cumberland to learn of the efforts put forth by the major offenders of the ordinance to meet its requirements, and of programs yet to be inaugurated by some which are expected to make even more certain that much of the complained-of dirt will be consumed within boilers or harnessed to such a degree at its sources as to greatly reduce chances of it being spewed over the community.

While the major offenders of the law have done much toward helping to cleanse Cumberland, the report by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company to Director Hitchcock covering its endeavors during the past year is impressive. To say the least, the company has given much attention to the task of helping cleanse Cumberland's atmosphere, and the strides made are most encouraging. The vacuum fire-up wagon to light off engines at the shops here has been employed, and auxiliary air jets have been placed in operation at each pit in the roundhouse as means of eliminating excessive smoke. If such equipment proves as successful as expected, persons living in the southern end of the city and at elevations overlooking the shops and roundhouse should experience an improvement in conditions which have been detrimental to health and property over a long period.

The Baltimore and Ohio has carried its hoped-for smoke elimination program into its yard operations by equipping all locomotives employed in making-up or shifting of trains with smoke consumers, while only 28 per cent of its freight and passenger engines are yet to be so equipped. Hardly a single operation of the company within the boundaries of Cumberland has been overlooked in its voluntary efforts to reduce smoke and grime.

Of course, the installation of all this equipment could not be successful in producing looked-for results unless it is properly handled. To this end, the B. & O. has tutored several hundred men in approved firing methods and where it has been found that they were not being followed disciplinary action has had to be taken, putting all persons charged with such responsibility on notice that regulations must be adhered to. In a word, the Baltimore and Ohio is doing its own policing to make certain that smoke-reducing equipment is given every opportunity to prove its worth and to determine what further steps might be necessary to make operations as free from smoke and soot as is mechanically and humanly possible.

It goes without saying that to make any undertaking succeed requires the full cooperation of offenders of a law. That Cumberland is receiving such cooperation in its battle to cleanse its air of health-injurious and property-damaging elements is emphasized in the report made by Director Hitchcock. And it can be certain that the residents of this community are most grateful for the efforts made by the B. & O., the Western Maryland Railway Company, Potomac Edison and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in this all-important city-cleansing undertaking. Not only will the city's welfare be enhanced but the railroads, industries, public utilities and institutions will be benefitted economically when the results desired are achieved.

Ponomarenko has been promoted in Russia to a post once held by Zhdanov. Typographically, that's no improvement.

Winter Has Been Kind To Cumberland, So Far

At this season of the year, anything can happen, and usually does, but something, so far, has been the matter with this winter. Here is Cumberland and adjacent territory, now in the second week of January, and winter, real winter, has, with one exception, passed the city by.

December, should be a moderately cold month, and it was colder than normal, the average temperature of 35.8 degrees comparing with a normal of 43.1 degrees. But those little more than 8 degrees did not make a whole lot of difference. Such temperatures can, as they did, bring snow, and some freezing rain which did considerable damage to woodlands. Cumberland had only one real snow in December and it was gone very quickly. There should have been twice as much snow.

Of course, winter is not over yet. As a matter of fact, it has just begun. But every day that goes by with unseasonable temperatures means that much less chance for a storm or cold wave. The result is economic savings in the burning of less fuel and the prevention of damage to man and machinery. So far —and it is well to emphasize the "so far" again— Cumberland has been fortunate, unless, that is, it has been living on borrowed time.

No wonder Joe Stalin thinks Uncle Sam will go broke. He has only five United Nations children to support. Uncle Sam has 47.

The Drive Against Representative Rankin

An effort is being made to force that strident Southerner, John Rankin, off the un-American Activities Committee.

Like all members of Congress who have taken an aggressive stand against the Commies, Rankin has had more than his share of abuse. To hear the things that are said against him you would not think his chief fault is a lingering loyalty to the America we have known and which most of us at heart believe in.

Well, there is one thing to be said for Representative Rankin as a member of the un-American Activities Committee. That committee was instituted to go after people, Nazis and Communists in particular, who were hostile to the American government. Does anyone question that in the big fight of our time John Rankin is altogether on the American side of the battle line?

It has not been explained what started the Dutch on the warpath in Indonesia, but oil is suspected.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

(Copyright: 1949: By The Chicago Tribune)

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Impaired Circulation To The Legs

Elderly persons with poor circulation should be especially careful not to hurt their legs. The importance of this precaution cannot be overemphasized because a slight injury or burn may lead to ulceration, gangrene, or loss of a limb. This happens because tissues deprived of blood have difficulty in resisting infection and heal slowly when damaged.

Dr. Van Dellen

Most physicians have been called to the home of a man or woman of advanced age, who is suffering from a gangrenous toe or foot. The majority of such patients had realized for many years that their circulation was impaired because the extremity was always cold or they had experienced discomfort in the foot or calf from time to time. The disorder presented a mild handicap, hardly enough to limit the usual activities. Then something occurred that changed the course of the condition. This part of the story varies with the individual but in general involves injury, overexposure to heat and cold, or the manner in which a callus, corn, or ringworm infection is handled. All too often, the incident was brought on through carelessness and seemed trivial at the time.

To profit by the mistakes of others is sound philosophy. One aged man ultimately lost a limb because he cut himself while paring his toe nails. The nick failed to heal, became infected, and eventually gangrene developed. His vision was poor and his hands shaky; had he left the job to another, this never would have happened. A second gentleman met the same fate after a brick fell on his foot and a lady, when some one stepped on her toes while riding in the subway.

Ringworm is a common source of trouble and in some cases, the openings left in the skin by the infection invites facterial invasion. But overtreatment is a greater threat. The tissues are burned easily by the preparations used frequently in this disorder; these products may work well when the circulation is good but not when hardening of the arteries exists. Digging too deeply and the employment of acids to remove callosities is equally risky.

Freezing the fingers and ties can lead to gangrene, even in a healthy persons. If the blood flow is sluggish, frostbite occurs more easily. This is reason enough to shun overexposure to cold. The local application of heat has the same deleterious effect. Warmth increases the nutritional demands of the tissues, which must be delivered via the blood stream. If the circulation is inadequate to fulfil the quota, the cells are starved to death. Furthermore, the nerves are not as sensitive in a part that lacks circulation and the individual cannot discriminate between safe and harmful degrees of heat. This puts the oldster in a precarious position as, for many years, he has resorted to heat to ease discomfort. Now that he is older, it is unwise to use a hot water bottle, heating pad, or infra-red lamp or to soak his feet in hot water.

When the circulation is deficient, care is essential in trimming the nails, corns, and calluses. Strong medicines like phenol, mercury, silver, or iodine must not be applied. Injuries should be avoided and the extremities must not be exposed to the elements nor to heat in excess of 94 degrees F. Keeping the skin clean will minimize infections and, by wearing suitable hose and well fitting shoes, there is less chance of developing calloused areas. The applications of olive oil, cocoa butter, or cold cream soften the skin and discourages cracks.

SLEEPWALKING

Mrs. U. writes: What causes my 11 year old daughter to walk in her sleep? She is healthy and normal otherwise.

Reply

In this type of sleep disturbance, the dream has gone beyond the usual stage. The best chance for cure is to discvoer and eliminate the emotional disturbance behind the affair. A pediatrician or psychiatrist will be helpful along this line.

SYMPATHETIC NAUSEA

Mrs. S. writes: I have been told that if a pregnant woman does not suffer from morning sickness that her husband usually develops nausea. I would like to know.

Reply

If you can convince your husband that this is true, he might oblige through the power of suggestion. As a rule, morning sickness occurs only in the one who is pregnant.

Taft, Ellender Part Company Over Housing Bill; Small Southerner Applauds Civil Rights; Senator Brewster Takes Credit For Appointment

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—There has been a divorce between two of the big names in public housing—Sen. Bob Taft, Ohio Republican, and Sen. Allen Ellender, Louisiana Democrat.

For several years their names have been linked on the controversial Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill which was never quite sneaked through Congress. Today, however, Ellender is leading a group of Democrats and Taft a group of Republicans in separate, though similar bills.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

The government housing agencies hatched a bill which they rushed over to Ellender's office to be introduced in the very early days of the new session. The senator from Louisiana promptly phoned Taft and invited him to join as co-sponsor.

Taft wanted to study the bill first, but Ellender insisted upon introducing it that same day

So Taft asked for an explanation of the bill over the phone.

"Oh, it's the same as the T-E-W bill," Ellender replied, in effect.

"Have you read it?" asked Taft.

"No," admitted the Louisianan.

"Then how do you know it's a good bill?" demanded Taft.

"They told me it's a good bill," assured Ellender.

The Senator from Ohio then asked how many public housing units the new bill would authorize.

"Wait a minute," retorted Ellender, and he put the question to someone who apparently was sitting in his office.

"A million," he finally answered.

"Over five years?" asked Taft.

"Yes, five years," agreed the Senator from Louisiana. But he was interrupted by a protest from the unknown visitor.

"No, seven years," he corrected himself.

Taft therefore, refused to put his name to the bill until he had read it, and Ellender stubbornly refused to delay the bill more than a day. That was how the former partners on public housing happened to part company and go their own separate ways.

One Southern Lady OK's Truman

When President Truman came to the crucial civil-rights issue in his State of the Union address, he had at least one sympathetic southern listener—eight-year-old Tolise Gathings who sat on the lap of her daddy, Rep. E. C. Gathings of Arkansas, while the President spoke.

As the white-haired man on the rostrum intoned all those big words, little Tolise listened profoundly and joined enthusiastically in the outbursts of applause. This caused Papa Gathings to beam proudly—until the President started talking about Civil Rights.

Suddenly the southern solons froze in their seats, their hands folded in their laps, and a funeral-parlor hush fell over them. But not Tolise Gathings. She clapped the white-haired gentleman on the rostrum just the same—until her daddy, with an embarrassed flush, reached down and caught his daughter's hands. He didn't let go either, until is was safe for an Arkansas congressman to applaud again.

Sister Senator Smith

Maine's high-flying Sen. Owen Brewster is taking the bows for getting his sister senator, Margaret Chase Smith, appointed to the all-powerful Republican Policy Committee. What happened was that the day before the announcement, Brewster ostentatiously made public a letter he had written urging Mrs. Smith's appointment.

The truth is, Mrs. Smith had already been selected well before Brewster wrote the letter. And she was selected, not to please Brewster, but to appease the Republican liberals. Brewster's buddy, Senator Taft, gave him an advance tip that the appointment was to be made, so the resourceful senator from Maine hastily dictated the letter—so he could take all the credit.

Under the Dome

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's son, Art, Jr., who has been running his father's office, has presented his dad with two-weeks notice. Young and able, Art, Jr., is dickering for a new job with some New York public relations firms. . . . A total of 662 bills and resolutions was dropped into the House "hopper" the opening day of Congress. New York's Democratic "Manny" Celler led with with 35 measures, while G.O.P. Congressman Carl Hinshaw of California introduced 25. . . . It was a great occasion for Colorado's John Carroll and Ohio's Representative-elect Stephen Young when they shook hands at the House Democratic caucus. The last previous meeting of the two Democrats was on Anzio beachhead, in Italy. . . . Phil Kaiser, now in the Labor Department, will become Assistant Secretary of Labor in charge of international affairs. A good man. . . . If Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing's job isn't raised to cabinet status, he will run for governor of New York.

Merry-Go-Round

Last week Sen. Estes Kefauver's father came to Washington to watch his son sworn in as a member of the upper chamber. Remarked the elder Kefauver, "They used to refer to Estes as my son. Now I am his daddy. That's what makes our country better—when a son is better than his daddy." . . . Freshman Congressman Harry Davenport of East Liberty, Pa., who ousted John McDowell from the House, wears a yellow-colored necktie calling for the defeat of the Taft-Hartley law. Congressman Davenport is pledged to wear the tie until the act is repealed. . . . Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas won a brand new Lee for his elections predictions. . . . New Secretary of State Acheson is expected to resume daily press conferences, invaluable to any State Department official who wants to keep in close touch with the public. . . . Acheson is popular with diplomatic newsmen. When he left as under secretary of state, they chipped in four dollars apiece to throw him a farewell party.

In Capitol Cloakrooms

Sen. Ken Wherry, G. O. P. leader in the Senate, has just had one of his trade secrets given away. It has now leaked out that the man who has written most of his speeches since 1942 is Albion Beveridge, who ran last place in Maine's senatorial primaries. Many of Wherry's fast questions and sharp retorts were worked out for him by Beveridge.

But even more interesting: The man who spilled the beans on Wherry's ghost-writer is his G.O.P. colleague—Senator Vandenberg. The Republican foreign policy chief got peeved when Wherry declined to step down as G.O.P. floor leader when Vandenberg requested it. . . . Only person who knows all the new congressmen by sight is Edith Ridgely, hostess in the House restaurant. She studied pictures of them in advance, recognized most of them the first day they came in to eat. . . India Edwards of the women's division of the Democratic Party has submitted a list of 15 women whom she wants President Truman to name to high posts in government and the diplomatic service.

New Congress Pledged To Truman's "Political Medicine"

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The New Congress is pledged by President Truman to a vast extension of "socialized medicine," or rather, to describe it correctly, "political medicine."

"Political medicine" has just been indicted by the Commission on Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Government appointed by Mr. Truman and headed by former President Hoover.

It is the old story of waste, duplication of hospital service, and the use of unnecessary doctors and nurses. The Public Health Service, the Army, the Navy and the Veterans Administration all build hospitals with no apparent attempt to correlate their efforts. Under the name of a "planned economy," political medicine is unplanned waste.

Among the findings of the Commission are the following: Patients in Federal hospitals stay two or three times as long as in private or community hospitals, monopolizing beds and cutting down the useful work of medical specialists. This at a time when beds are desperately needed in hundreds of communities where there has been a large growth of population.

Veterans are given prior claim to service, wholly irrespective of whether the disability is service or non-service connected; irrespective, also, of the question whether the veteran can or cannot pay. In the Veterans Administration hospitals in the New York area, 83 per cent of the patients are there for causes wholly disconnected with military service.

The Public Health Service hospitals are the least wasteful of your tax money. This is because the Federal government, under the Hill-Barton Act pays only one-third of the cost. The other two-thirds come from state and local contributions. This makes the management of these hospitals responsible to some extent to those who pay the bills and are close enough to watch them. When the Federal government puts up all the money, who cares? The Commission reports that hospitals wholly paid for by Washington often cost three times as much as those paid for locally. Just another illustration of the fact that the Federal government is the most wasteful of all governments.

Such is the story of "federal aid" to local contractors who have an "in" with the politicians. Yet the New Dealers in both the old parties can think of no cure for anything except to turn it over to Washington, D. C.

The Truman program calls for federal civil rights legislation in Southern states. In the lights of the facts concerning racial discrimination in Washington, itself, where the Federal politicians are supreme, the hypocrisy about federal civil rights is nauseating in the extreme.

The politicians in control of both the old parties say they must help the "poor Southern states" build school houses and education their children. Mr. Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council has stuck some sharp pins in this political balloon. He points out that the Federal Government drained away from the Southern states in taxes last year the staggering sum of $9,190,000,000—an increase of 500 per cent since 1940.

Take Mississippi, said to be our poorest state. In 1934, the Federal Government took from that state $2,463,000; in 1940, $7,371,000, and in 1948, $106,838,000!

So having deprived Mississippi of nearly $107,000,000 last year, the federal do-gooders must now "aid" Mississippi to build schools!

The way for the Federal Government to aid Mississippi and all the 48 states is to reduce federal taxes. It is as simple a that. But then, the do-gooders on the Potomac would not have so many jobs.

Holds Reciprocity Must Be Key Word In Russian Dealings

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The appointment of Dean Acheson as secretary of state means simply this: A new hand will try to make sense out of an established policy.

The "established policy" has fortunately warded off a provoked war but it has also warded off a negotiated peace. Whether the latter is a fortuitous circumstance or a costly error remains yet to be demonstrated.

The tendency in all official outgivings is to put all the blame on Russia. The American people have been led to believe that our own government never made and mistakes, and has been in no way responsible for the origin of or continuance of the "cold war." The simplified version—repeated almost with propaganda vigor—is that the Russians have obstructed peace, do not want peace, and are only waiting the propitious moment to attack the United States. It could be true but the published record does not prove it.

An examination of the "White Paper" on the Berlin blockade, for instance, reveals how technical quibbles can keep governments apart when they are tending to draw closer together. It discloses the real failure of post-war diplomacy. The London conference of 1946 was a turning point. It led to a decision in May 1947 by the Allies to go along without Russia in dividing Germany and it led in turn to Russian reprisals in Berlin. The "cold war" ensued.

Principal Error In Policy

The principal error in the policy of the United States is the assumption that Russia, though a sovereign nation, can be coerced by economic or other means into surrendering her point of view. The principal error in the Russian policy is the belief that the United States, also a sovereign nation, can be coerced by any form of pressure into "cooperating" or "agreeing" to settlements on European issues which the United States government believes would not settle Europe's problems.

Between these two intransigeant positions lies an opportunity for effective mediation and skillful negotiation. Again and again in world history nationalistic nations with expansionist ideas have adopted the doctrine after a war that "to the victor belongs the spoils." The situation today is further complicated by the fact that under the communist regime Russia has ideological prejudices against democracy and private enterprise and a lack of experience in world affairs which makes it difficult for her to work with the other powers.

Such a condition, however, cannot be permitted to drag on until an overt act occurs and brings on war. Nor can a "cold war" be treated in the meantime as a substitute for diplomacy. It is now costing the United States about $15,000,000,000 in armament and another $6,000,000,000 annually in economic aid to countries where it is hoped to keep Communist governments from emerging.

The situation calls for a man of imagination and skill in the secretaryship of state. With all due respect to General Marshall—one of the finest gentlemen and one of the finest soldiers who ever lived—he was not skilled in diplomacy and he has had little of the imagination needed in handling the psychological factor so vital to a world policy. His training naturally has not been that of a negotiator. Soldiers usually don't negotiate except when one or the other of the parties has been beaten, and there's a surrender to be consummated.

It was, as history will some day record objectively, a mistake to put upon General Marshall the complete responsibility for handling our foreign relations in the last couple of years. He had the prestige of a war hero, but it turned out to be a job for a man with another kind of experience and background. General Marshall did the best he could with his limited knowledge.

Acheson Is a Different Type

Dean Acheson is a different type. He is an experienced negotiator and a good lawyer. He is good enough to be on the Supreme Court of the United States—and may get there some day. He will serve President Truman not as a man of whom Mr. Truman stands in awe as he did General Marshall. Mr. Acheson will serve him as a trusted lawyer serves a valued client. He will have ideas of his own but he knows that the way to settle most disputes in a world of materialism is to get, if possible, an agreement with the other fellow, out of court.

Dean Acheson worked with Secretary Byrnes who was more of the political type—like Mr. Truman him himself—and served also under General Marshall as undersecretary of state. Mr. Acheson has no illusions about Russian behavior. He is a loyal American in every sense of the word. There should not be the slightest hesitation on the part of the Senate in confirming him.

The appointment does credit to President Truman and opens for the entire world a new hope of peace — not in a few weeks or months, but in the course of the next few years. A steady, firm, unostentatious and non-swashbuckling attitude can get results, but the key word must be reciprocity. American policy in the post-war period has been a curious mixture of idealism and materialism plus a constant eye on strategic considerations in a world of atomic bombs and air power. Russia respects our economic power and ingenuity and America might as well respect Russia's position, as the strongest military force in Europe today. War is not inevitable and peace is not impracticable.

It is time to eliminate such expressions as "tough" or "soft." Neither side should expect "appeasement" or "diplomatic victories." But both sides can expect to work out a "method of living" with the existing problems—what the diplomats call a "modus vivendi." It is the first step in a progressive series of adjustments over a span of years. It is a practical method of deferring, if not avoiding, war altogether.

The Indictments

THE Federal Grand Jurors' Association of the eastern district of New York got up one of those questionnaires which asked a lot of "yes and no" questions, and queried high school teachers, professional engineers, college students and miscellaneous human beings on the subject of the grand jury and how it operates. The answers were calculated, they give evidence of an astonishing lack of knowledge of one of the most valuable defenses against tyranny.

I was particularly interested in the replies to their question, "What is an indictment?" Seventeen percent of the miscellaneous, 12 percent of the college students and 35 percent of the engineers thought that an indictment was evidence of guilt; astonishingly, 11 percent thought that an indicement was evidence of innocence.

This explains in a large measure why so many believe that a man is guilty even if he is interrogated by a congressional committee, or why so many are sure that a man, like Alger Hiss, is done for if a grand jury indicts him. The old Anglo-Saxon dictum that a man is innocent until he is proved guilty seems to have passed out of our political thought along with many other fine ideas in these troubled and confused times.

Of course, in the totalitarian countries, a man is guilty if the government says so, with or without trial. Our assumption is that the law exists not only to punish the guilty but to protect the innocent.

Our law deals with the individual man and his inalienable rights defined by the Constitution; the totalitarian concept is that the law is an instrument devised by the state, bendable to the purposes of the state.

The grand jury is an ancient institution in Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence. It is a body of "peers," that is, equals in rights and rank, who determine not whether an individual is guilty or innocent but whether he is to be made subject to a trial.

The indictment is merely a formal accusation. The grand jury assures itself that the evidence before it is sufficient not to convince of guilt but to justify an accusation. In gathering such evidence, the grand jury is permitted a latitude wider than will be tolerated at a trial. Grand jury proceeding are in private and secret; a trial is public. The grand jury is not governed by the rules of evidence and therefore may have more information than can be set forth in court. Should a great public wrong need to be righted, yet it not be possible for the grand jury to indict anyone, it may hand down a presentment, stating the case and recommending public action, even needed legislation.

In practice, the grand jury may protect individuals from the malevolence of their neighbors or even the government.

This much ought to be clear: the grand jury is not a body of professional lawyers. The grand jury consists of laymen, theoretically the same kind of men as those who are brought before them.

They are not, therefore, concerned so much with the law as with the fact. They are charged to discover the truth under circumstances easier than exist at a trial.

A congressional committee is, in many respects, but not all, like a grand jury. The major distinction is that its sessions are usually, although not always, public. The purposes, however, are different. Whereas the grand jury gathers data to punish the guilty and defend the innocent, the congressional committee seeks data for the purpose of legislating to correct wrongs and improve the general welfare.

Should a congressional committee discover that a crime has been committed, it can do nothing about it except present the information to a grand jury.

Congressional committees are often criticized for "doing nothing"; by that is meant that they hold hearings, issue reports, propose legislation—but no one is sent to jail. If the judicial process is necessary, the matter must be shifted from the congressional committee, which has no jurisdiction, to the grand jury, which has jurisdiction under the fifth amendment to the Constitution. This amendment is a limitation upon both the powers of the legislature as well as the prosecuting officers of the United States.

It Says Here

Cook never took a tour like this!

Yes sir, here we are with 19,000 feet of air between us and the ground on a DC-6 headed for Ft. Worth, Texas, the first stop on our tour of 32 cities throughout the country.

It's really a modern plane. You can hardly hear the roar of the motors over the groans of the Les Brown musicians. Of course they're only sore because they haven't flown this low in years.

The two beautiful stewardesses, Winnie Porter and Bea Crowley, sure were nice to me, but I'm suspicious. They insisted on fastening my safety belt with a padlock, then when we got up to 8,000 feet they threw away the key.

Captain Kiessing and his two officers, Sam Miller and Claire Jarvis, were a little annoyed when I kept asking what the dials on the control panel were for. In fact, after my 3rd question, Kiessing threw up his hands and yelled: "And the Wright Brothers thought they had it tough!"

But seriously, flying from city to city on this tour will be a profitable experience. If the audiences don't like me, I can always quit show business and get a job with Rand & McNally.

Progress Made Toward Elimination Of Smoke

Cumberland's smoke abatement campaign has, according to information made public a day or so ago, been advanced considerably, thanks to voluntary efforts on the part of railroads, public utilities and industries to bring themselves into line with the city's law against excessive smoke, fly ash and other air-polluting elements.

Such a disclosure has been made in the report just submitted by George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, to the Mayor and City Council, covering the first year of the law's life. It will be gratifying, indeed, to the people of Cumberland to learn of the efforts put forth by the major offenders of the ordinance to meet its requirements, and of programs yet to be inaugurated by some which are expected to make even more certain that much of the complained-of dirt will be consumed within boilers or harnessed to such a degree at its sources as to greatly reduce chances of it being spewed over the community.

While the major offenders of the law have done much toward helping to cleanse Cumberland, the report by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company to Director Hitchcock covering its endeavors during the past year is impressive. To say the least, the company has given much attention to the task of helping cleanse Cumberland's atmosphere, and the strides made are most encouraging. The vacuum fire-up wagon to light off engines at the shops here has been employed, and auxiliary air jets have been placed in operation at each pit in the roundhouse as means of eliminating excessive smoke. If such equipment proves as successful as expected, persons living in the southern end of the city and at elevations overlooking the shops and roundhouse should experience an improvement in conditions which have been detrimental to health and property over a long period.

The Baltimore and Ohio has carried its hoped-for smoke elimination program into its yard operations by equipping all locomotives employed in making-up or shifting of trains with smoke consumers, while only 28 per cent of its freight and passenger engines are yet to be so equipped. Hardly a single operation of the company within the boundaries of Cumberland has been overlooked in its voluntary efforts to reduce smoke and grime.

Of course, the installation of all this equipment could not be successful in producing looked-for results unless it is properly handled. To this end, the B. & O. has tutored several hundred men in approved firing methods and where it has been found that they were not being followed disciplinary action has had to be taken, putting all persons charged with such responsibility on notice that regulations must be adhered to. In a word, the Baltimore and Ohio is doing its own policing to make certain that smoke-reducing equipment is given every opportunity to prove its worth and to determine what further steps might be necessary to make operations as free from smoke and soot as is mechanically and humanly possible.

It goes without saying that to make any undertaking succeed requires the full cooperation of offenders of a law. That Cumberland is receiving such cooperation in its battle to cleanse its air of health-injurious and property-damaging elements is emphasized in the report made by Director Hitchcock. And it can be certain that the residents of this community are most grateful for the efforts made by the B. & O., the Western Maryland Railway Company, Potomac Edison and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in this all-important city-cleansing undertaking. Not only will the city's welfare be enhanced but the railroads, industries, public utilities and institutions will be benefitted economically when the results desired are achieved.

Ponomarenko has been promoted in Russia to a post once held by Zhdanov. Typographically, that's no improvement.

Winter Has Been Kind To Cumberland, So Far

At this season of the year, anything can happen, and usually does, but something, so far, has been the matter with this winter. Here is Cumberland and adjacent territory, now in the second week of January, and winter, real winter, has, with one exception, passed the city by.

December, should be a moderately cold month, and it was colder than normal, the average temperature of 35.8 degrees comparing with a normal of 43.1 degrees. But those little more than 8 degrees did not make a whole lot of difference. Such temperatures can, as they did, bring snow, and some freezing rain which did considerable damage to woodlands. Cumberland had only one real snow in December and it was gone very quickly. There should have been twice as much snow.

Of course, winter is not over yet. As a matter of fact, it has just begun. But every day that goes by with unseasonable temperatures means that much less chance for a storm or cold wave. The result is economic savings in the burning of less fuel and the prevention of damage to man and machinery. So far —and it is well to emphasize the "so far" again— Cumberland has been fortunate, unless, that is, it has been living on borrowed time.

No wonder Joe Stalin thinks Uncle Sam will go broke. He has only five United Nations children to support. Uncle Sam has 47.

The Drive Against Representative Rankin

An effort is being made to force that strident Southerner, John Rankin, off the un-American Activities Committee.

Like all members of Congress who have taken an aggressive stand against the Commies, Rankin has had more than his share of abuse. To hear the things that are said against him you would not think his chief fault is a lingering loyalty to the America we have known and which most of us at heart believe in.

Well, there is one thing to be said for Representative Rankin as a member of the un-American Activities Committee. That committee was instituted to go after people, Nazis and Communists in particular, who were hostile to the American government. Does anyone question that in the big fight of our time John Rankin is altogether on the American side of the battle line?

It has not been explained what started the Dutch on the warpath in Indonesia, but oil is suspected.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Impaired Circulation To The Legs

Elderly persons with poor circulation should be especially careful not to hurt their legs. The importance of this precaution cannot be overemphasized because a slight injury or burn may lead to ulceration, gangrene, or loss of a limb. This happens because tissues deprived of blood have difficulty in resisting infection and heal slowly when damaged.

Dr. Van Dellen

Most physicians have been called to the home of a man or woman of advanced age, who is suffering from a gangrenous toe or foot. The majority of such patients had realized for many years that their circulation was impaired because the extremity was always cold or they had experienced discomfort in the foot or calf from time to time. The disorder presented a mild handicap, hardly enough to limit the usual activities. Then something occurred that changed the course of the condition. This part of the story varies with the individual but in general involves injury, overexposure to heat and cold, or the manner in which a callus, corn, or ringworm infection is handled. All too often, the incident was brought on through carelessness and seemed trivial at the time.

To profit by the mistakes of others is sound philosophy. One aged man ultimately lost a limb because he cut himself while paring his toe nails. The nick failed to heal, became infected, and eventually gangrene developed. His vision was poor and his hands shaky; had he left the job to another, this never would have happened. A second gentleman met the same fate after a brick fell on his foot and a lady, when some one stepped on her toes while riding in the subway.

Ringworm is a common source of trouble and in some cases, the openings left in the skin by the infection invites facterial invasion. But overtreatment is a greater threat. The tissues are burned easily by the preparations used frequently in this disorder; these products may work well when the circulation is good but not when hardening of the arteries exists. Digging too deeply and the employment of acids to remove callosities is equally risky.

Freezing the fingers and ties can lead to gangrene, even in a healthy persons. If the blood flow is sluggish, frostbite occurs more easily. This is reason enough to shun overexposure to cold. The local application of heat has the same deleterious effect. Warmth increases the nutritional demands of the tissues, which must be delivered via the blood stream. If the circulation is inadequate to fulfil the quota, the cells are starved to death. Furthermore, the nerves are not as sensitive in a part that lacks circulation and the individual cannot discriminate between safe and harmful degrees of heat. This puts the oldster in a precarious position as, for many years, he has resorted to heat to ease discomfort. Now that he is older, it is unwise to use a hot water bottle, heating pad, or infra-red lamp or to soak his feet in hot water.

When the circulation is deficient, care is essential in trimming the nails, corns, and calluses. Strong medicines like phenol, mercury, silver, or iodine must not be applied. Injuries should be avoided and the extremities must not be exposed to the elements nor to heat in excess of 94 degrees F. Keeping the skin clean will minimize infections and, by wearing suitable hose and well fitting shoes, there is less chance of developing calloused areas. The applications of olive oil, cocoa butter, or cold cream soften the skin and discourages cracks.

In this type of sleep disturbance, the dream has gone beyond the usual stage. The best chance for cure is to discvoer and eliminate the emotional disturbance behind the affair. A pediatrician or psychiatrist will be helpful along this line.

Taft, Ellender Part Company Over Housing Bill; Small Southerner Applauds Civil Rights; Senator Brewster Takes Credit For Appointment

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—There has been a divorce between two of the big names in public housing—Sen. Bob Taft, Ohio Republican, and Sen. Allen Ellender, Louisiana Democrat.

For several years their names have been linked on the controversial Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill which was never quite sneaked through Congress. Today, however, Ellender is leading a group of Democrats and Taft a group of Republicans in separate, though similar bills.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

The government housing agencies hatched a bill which they rushed over to Ellender's office to be introduced in the very early days of the new session. The senator from Louisiana promptly phoned Taft and invited him to join as co-sponsor.

Taft wanted to study the bill first, but Ellender insisted upon introducing it that same day

So Taft asked for an explanation of the bill over the phone.

"Oh, it's the same as the T-E-W bill," Ellender replied, in effect.

"Have you read it?" asked Taft.

"No," admitted the Louisianan.

"Then how do you know it's a good bill?" demanded Taft.

"They told me it's a good bill," assured Ellender.

The Senator from Ohio then asked how many public housing units the new bill would authorize.

"Wait a minute," retorted Ellender, and he put the question to someone who apparently was sitting in his office.

"A million," he finally answered.

"Over five years?" asked Taft.

"Yes, five years," agreed the Senator from Louisiana. But he was interrupted by a protest from the unknown visitor.

"No, seven years," he corrected himself.

Taft therefore, refused to put his name to the bill until he had read it, and Ellender stubbornly refused to delay the bill more than a day. That was how the former partners on public housing happened to part company and go their own separate ways.

One Southern Lady OK's Truman

When President Truman came to the crucial civil-rights issue in his State of the Union address, he had at least one sympathetic southern listener—eight-year-old Tolise Gathings who sat on the lap of her daddy, Rep. E. C. Gathings of Arkansas, while the President spoke.

As the white-haired man on the rostrum intoned all those big words, little Tolise listened profoundly and joined enthusiastically in the outbursts of applause. This caused Papa Gathings to beam proudly—until the President started talking about Civil Rights.

Suddenly the southern solons froze in their seats, their hands folded in their laps, and a funeral-parlor hush fell over them. But not Tolise Gathings. She clapped the white-haired gentleman on the rostrum just the same—until her daddy, with an embarrassed flush, reached down and caught his daughter's hands. He didn't let go either, until is was safe for an Arkansas congressman to applaud again.

Sister Senator Smith

Maine's high-flying Sen. Owen Brewster is taking the bows for getting his sister senator, Margaret Chase Smith, appointed to the all-powerful Republican Policy Committee. What happened was that the day before the announcement, Brewster ostentatiously made public a letter he had written urging Mrs. Smith's appointment.

The truth is, Mrs. Smith had already been selected well before Brewster wrote the letter. And she was selected, not to please Brewster, but to appease the Republican liberals. Brewster's buddy, Senator Taft, gave him an advance tip that the appointment was to be made, so the resourceful senator from Maine hastily dictated the letter—so he could take all the credit.

Under the Dome

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's son, Art, Jr., who has been running his father's office, has presented his dad with two-weeks notice. Young and able, Art, Jr., is dickering for a new job with some New York public relations firms. . . . A total of 662 bills and resolutions was dropped into the House "hopper" the opening day of Congress. New York's Democratic "Manny" Celler led with with 35 measures, while G.O.P. Congressman Carl Hinshaw of California introduced 25. . . . It was a great occasion for Colorado's John Carroll and Ohio's Representative-elect Stephen Young when they shook hands at the House Democratic caucus. The last previous meeting of the two Democrats was on Anzio beachhead, in Italy. . . . Phil Kaiser, now in the Labor Department, will become Assistant Secretary of Labor in charge of international affairs. A good man. . . . If Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing's job isn't raised to cabinet status, he will run for governor of New York.

Merry-Go-Round

Last week Sen. Estes Kefauver's father came to Washington to watch his son sworn in as a member of the upper chamber. Remarked the elder Kefauver, "They used to refer to Estes as my son. Now I am his daddy. That's what makes our country better—when a son is better than his daddy." . . . Freshman Congressman Harry Davenport of East Liberty, Pa., who ousted John McDowell from the House, wears a yellow-colored necktie calling for the defeat of the Taft-Hartley law. Congressman Davenport is pledged to wear the tie until the act is repealed. . . . Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas won a brand new Lee for his elections predictions. . . . New Secretary of State Acheson is expected to resume daily press conferences, invaluable to any State Department official who wants to keep in close touch with the public. . . . Acheson is popular with diplomatic newsmen. When he left as under secretary of state, they chipped in four dollars apiece to throw him a farewell party.

In Capitol Cloakrooms

Sen. Ken Wherry, G. O. P. leader in the Senate, has just had one of his trade secrets given away. It has now leaked out that the man who has written most of his speeches since 1942 is Albion Beveridge, who ran last place in Maine's senatorial primaries. Many of Wherry's fast questions and sharp retorts were worked out for him by Beveridge.

But even more interesting: The man who spilled the beans on Wherry's ghost-writer is his G.O.P. colleague—Senator Vandenberg. The Republican foreign policy chief got peeved when Wherry declined to step down as G.O.P. floor leader when Vandenberg requested it. . . . Only person who knows all the new congressmen by sight is Edith Ridgely, hostess in the House restaurant. She studied pictures of them in advance, recognized most of them the first day they came in to eat. . . India Edwards of the women's division of the Democratic Party has submitted a list of 15 women whom she wants President Truman to name to high posts in government and the diplomatic service.

New Congress Pledged To Truman's "Political Medicine"

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The New Congress is pledged by President Truman to a vast extension of "socialized medicine," or rather, to describe it correctly, "political medicine."

"Political medicine" has just been indicted by the Commission on Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Government appointed by Mr. Truman and headed by former President Hoover.

It is the old story of waste, duplication of hospital service, and the use of unnecessary doctors and nurses. The Public Health Service, the Army, the Navy and the Veterans Administration all build hospitals with no apparent attempt to correlate their efforts. Under the name of a "planned economy," political medicine is unplanned waste.

Among the findings of the Commission are the following: Patients in Federal hospitals stay two or three times as long as in private or community hospitals, monopolizing beds and cutting down the useful work of medical specialists. This at a time when beds are desperately needed in hundreds of communities where there has been a large growth of population.

Veterans are given prior claim to service, wholly irrespective of whether the disability is service or non-service connected; irrespective, also, of the question whether the veteran can or cannot pay. In the Veterans Administration hospitals in the New York area, 83 per cent of the patients are there for causes wholly disconnected with military service.

The Public Health Service hospitals are the least wasteful of your tax money. This is because the Federal government, under the Hill-Barton Act pays only one-third of the cost. The other two-thirds come from state and local contributions. This makes the management of these hospitals responsible to some extent to those who pay the bills and are close enough to watch them. When the Federal government puts up all the money, who cares? The Commission reports that hospitals wholly paid for by Washington often cost three times as much as those paid for locally. Just another illustration of the fact that the Federal government is the most wasteful of all governments.

Such is the story of "federal aid" to local contractors who have an "in" with the politicians. Yet the New Dealers in both the old parties can think of no cure for anything except to turn it over to Washington, D. C.

The Truman program calls for federal civil rights legislation in Southern states. In the lights of the facts concerning racial discrimination in Washington, itself, where the Federal politicians are supreme, the hypocrisy about federal civil rights is nauseating in the extreme.

The politicians in control of both the old parties say they must help the "poor Southern states" build school houses and education their children. Mr. Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council has stuck some sharp pins in this political balloon. He points out that the Federal Government drained away from the Southern states in taxes last year the staggering sum of $9,190,000,000—an increase of 500 per cent since 1940.

Take Mississippi, said to be our poorest state. In 1934, the Federal Government took from that state $2,463,000; in 1940, $7,371,000, and in 1948, $106,838,000!

So having deprived Mississippi of nearly $107,000,000 last year, the federal do-gooders must now "aid" Mississippi to build schools!

The way for the Federal Government to aid Mississippi and all the 48 states is to reduce federal taxes. It is as simple a that. But then, the do-gooders on the Potomac would not have so many jobs.

Holds Reciprocity Must Be Key Word In Russian Dealings

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The appointment of Dean Acheson as secretary of state means simply this: A new hand will try to make sense out of an established policy.

The "established policy" has fortunately warded off a provoked war but it has also warded off a negotiated peace. Whether the latter is a fortuitous circumstance or a costly error remains yet to be demonstrated.

The tendency in all official outgivings is to put all the blame on Russia. The American people have been led to believe that our own government never made and mistakes, and has been in no way responsible for the origin of or continuance of the "cold war." The simplified version—repeated almost with propaganda vigor—is that the Russians have obstructed peace, do not want peace, and are only waiting the propitious moment to attack the United States. It could be true but the published record does not prove it.

An examination of the "White Paper" on the Berlin blockade, for instance, reveals how technical quibbles can keep governments apart when they are tending to draw closer together. It discloses the real failure of post-war diplomacy. The London conference of 1946 was a turning point. It led to a decision in May 1947 by the Allies to go along without Russia in dividing Germany and it led in turn to Russian reprisals in Berlin. The "cold war" ensued.

Principal Error In Policy

The principal error in the policy of the United States is the assumption that Russia, though a sovereign nation, can be coerced by economic or other means into surrendering her point of view. The principal error in the Russian policy is the belief that the United States, also a sovereign nation, can be coerced by any form of pressure into "cooperating" or "agreeing" to settlements on European issues which the United States government believes would not settle Europe's problems.

Between these two intransigeant positions lies an opportunity for effective mediation and skillful negotiation. Again and again in world history nationalistic nations with expansionist ideas have adopted the doctrine after a war that "to the victor belongs the spoils." The situation today is further complicated by the fact that under the communist regime Russia has ideological prejudices against democracy and private enterprise and a lack of experience in world affairs which makes it difficult for her to work with the other powers.

Such a condition, however, cannot be permitted to drag on until an overt act occurs and brings on war. Nor can a "cold war" be treated in the meantime as a substitute for diplomacy. It is now costing the United States about $15,000,000,000 in armament and another $6,000,000,000 annually in economic aid to countries where it is hoped to keep Communist governments from emerging.

The situation calls for a man of imagination and skill in the secretaryship of state. With all due respect to General Marshall—one of the finest gentlemen and one of the finest soldiers who ever lived—he was not skilled in diplomacy and he has had little of the imagination needed in handling the psychological factor so vital to a world policy. His training naturally has not been that of a negotiator. Soldiers usually don't negotiate except when one or the other of the parties has been beaten, and there's a surrender to be consummated.

It was, as history will some day record objectively, a mistake to put upon General Marshall the complete responsibility for handling our foreign relations in the last couple of years. He had the prestige of a war hero, but it turned out to be a job for a man with another kind of experience and background. General Marshall did the best he could with his limited knowledge.

Acheson Is a Different Type

Dean Acheson is a different type. He is an experienced negotiator and a good lawyer. He is good enough to be on the Supreme Court of the United States—and may get there some day. He will serve President Truman not as a man of whom Mr. Truman stands in awe as he did General Marshall. Mr. Acheson will serve him as a trusted lawyer serves a valued client. He will have ideas of his own but he knows that the way to settle most disputes in a world of materialism is to get, if possible, an agreement with the other fellow, out of court.

Dean Acheson worked with Secretary Byrnes who was more of the political type—like Mr. Truman him himself—and served also under General Marshall as undersecretary of state. Mr. Acheson has no illusions about Russian behavior. He is a loyal American in every sense of the word. There should not be the slightest hesitation on the part of the Senate in confirming him.

The appointment does credit to President Truman and opens for the entire world a new hope of peace — not in a few weeks or months, but in the course of the next few years. A steady, firm, unostentatious and non-swashbuckling attitude can get results, but the key word must be reciprocity. American policy in the post-war period has been a curious mixture of idealism and materialism plus a constant eye on strategic considerations in a world of atomic bombs and air power. Russia respects our economic power and ingenuity and America might as well respect Russia's position, as the strongest military force in Europe today. War is not inevitable and peace is not impracticable.

It is time to eliminate such expressions as "tough" or "soft." Neither side should expect "appeasement" or "diplomatic victories." But both sides can expect to work out a "method of living" with the existing problems—what the diplomats call a "modus vivendi." It is the first step in a progressive series of adjustments over a span of years. It is a practical method of deferring, if not avoiding, war altogether.

The Indictments

THE Federal Grand Jurors' Association of the eastern district of New York got up one of those questionnaires which asked a lot of "yes and no" questions, and queried high school teachers, professional engineers, college students and miscellaneous human beings on the subject of the grand jury and how it operates. The answers were calculated, they give evidence of an astonishing lack of knowledge of one of the most valuable defenses against tyranny.

I was particularly interested in the replies to their question, "What is an indictment?" Seventeen percent of the miscellaneous, 12 percent of the college students and 35 percent of the engineers thought that an indictment was evidence of guilt; astonishingly, 11 percent thought that an indicement was evidence of innocence.

This explains in a large measure why so many believe that a man is guilty even if he is interrogated by a congressional committee, or why so many are sure that a man, like Alger Hiss, is done for if a grand jury indicts him. The old Anglo-Saxon dictum that a man is innocent until he is proved guilty seems to have passed out of our political thought along with many other fine ideas in these troubled and confused times.

Of course, in the totalitarian countries, a man is guilty if the government says so, with or without trial. Our assumption is that the law exists not only to punish the guilty but to protect the innocent.

Our law deals with the individual man and his inalienable rights defined by the Constitution; the totalitarian concept is that the law is an instrument devised by the state, bendable to the purposes of the state.

The grand jury is an ancient institution in Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence. It is a body of "peers," that is, equals in rights and rank, who determine not whether an individual is guilty or innocent but whether he is to be made subject to a trial.

The indictment is merely a formal accusation. The grand jury assures itself that the evidence before it is sufficient not to convince of guilt but to justify an accusation. In gathering such evidence, the grand jury is permitted a latitude wider than will be tolerated at a trial. Grand jury proceeding are in private and secret; a trial is public. The grand jury is not governed by the rules of evidence and therefore may have more information than can be set forth in court. Should a great public wrong need to be righted, yet it not be possible for the grand jury to indict anyone, it may hand down a presentment, stating the case and recommending public action, even needed legislation.

In practice, the grand jury may protect individuals from the malevolence of their neighbors or even the government.

This much ought to be clear: the grand jury is not a body of professional lawyers. The grand jury consists of laymen, theoretically the same kind of men as those who are brought before them.

They are not, therefore, concerned so much with the law as with the fact. They are charged to discover the truth under circumstances easier than exist at a trial.

A congressional committee is, in many respects, but not all, like a grand jury. The major distinction is that its sessions are usually, although not always, public. The purposes, however, are different. Whereas the grand jury gathers data to punish the guilty and defend the innocent, the congressional committee seeks data for the purpose of legislating to correct wrongs and improve the general welfare.

Should a congressional committee discover that a crime has been committed, it can do nothing about it except present the information to a grand jury.

Congressional committees are often criticized for "doing nothing"; by that is meant that they hold hearings, issue reports, propose legislation—but no one is sent to jail. If the judicial process is necessary, the matter must be shifted from the congressional committee, which has no jurisdiction, to the grand jury, which has jurisdiction under the fifth amendment to the Constitution. This amendment is a limitation upon both the powers of the legislature as well as the prosecuting officers of the United States.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Cook never took a tour like this!

Yes sir, here we are with 19,000 feet of air between us and the ground on a DC-6 headed for Ft. Worth, Texas, the first stop on our tour of 32 cities throughout the country.

It's really a modern plane. You can hardly hear the roar of the motors over the groans of the Les Brown musicians. Of course they're only sore because they haven't flown this low in years.

The two beautiful stewardesses, Winnie Porter and Bea Crowley, sure were nice to me, but I'm suspicious. They insisted on fastening my safety belt with a padlock, then when we got up to 8,000 feet they threw away the key.

Captain Kiessing and his two officers, Sam Miller and Claire Jarvis, were a little annoyed when I kept asking what the dials on the control panel were for. In fact, after my 3rd question, Kiessing threw up his hands and yelled: "And the Wright Brothers thought they had it tough!"

But seriously, flying from city to city on this tour will be a profitable experience. If the audiences don't like me, I can always quit show business and get a job with Rand & McNally.

Snow Damage To C. And P. $40,000

The December 15 snowstorm caused damage ranging from $40,000 to $45,000 to equipment of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, Howard M. Smith, manager, said yesterday.

The open wire of the Cumberland to Meyersdale, Pa., toll lead was damaged to such an extent it was necessary to rebuild it completely, Smith added. A section of this line for a distance of 13,000 feet (over two miles) will be replaced with cable.

The company was required to replace 103 poles, 106 crossarms and 111 single miles of open wire. Seventy-four single miles of the open wire was removed and 37 replaced, the difference to be made up by the installation of the cable, Smith said.

Meanwhile, the company is speeding its work on completion of the new telephone building, corner of South Centre and Union Streets.

Smith said it will be several weeks before offices will be moved into the new structure but wiring on the toll positions and on business office equipment has begun.

The new building will house only the toll or long distance lines. When the new lines are installed, the toll lines in the old building adjoining will be cut out.

The local lines will remain in the old building, Smith said, and additional ones added in place of the toll positions. This will enable the company to handle applications for phones now pending.

PITCHING IN A PINCH

By JOHN W. WHEELER

(Copyright, 1949, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Ed. Note—John Wheeler is Pitching in a Pinch for Pitching Horseshoes by Billy Rose who is suspending his column for several weeks while he is on an extended trip around the world.

Years ago on the old New York Herald was a gay soul named Tom Geraghty from Rushville, Ind., now dead, who always wore a cane and a smile. He wanted to find out where the tick came from in New York and also to meet Evelyn Thaw, so he could send some picture post cards home to his Hoosier friends to show how well he was getting along. Through diligence and long hours, he accomplished both and had a photograph taken of himself with Evelyn, then a beautiful girl who had made something of a reputation as a public character in the Thaw case, her husband being accused of murdering the architect, Stanford White.

Mr. Geraghty used to frequent, after hours, a saloon run by Tim Shine which was so old fashioned no lady patrons were admitted in the main section. They were confined to a small dark room in the rear which was pretty uncomfortable. Mr. Shine did not favor female drinking.

Being a sociable man, Tom struck up a conversation one night with a husky patron, who rated himself something of a psychoanalyst when it came to the so-called fairer and weaker sex. He began to expound his theories which proved to be entertaining to most of the customers in this emporium where no one would get arrested if he bought a drink.

• — • — •

"Women like to be treated rough," said this expert, "and, when I say rough, that's what I mean. Now you take my girl. We had a little argument last night, and I hit her on the chin pretty nearly as hard as old Jim Jeffries could punch. When she came to, was she mad? I should say not. She was just as sweet and kissed me and forgot all about the row."

Having captivated his audience, the gent bought a drink all around and added,

"I'm going to try it on all women I meet from now on."

That is where he made his mistake although he didn't realize it until later, because it gave Mr. Geraghty an idea he thought worth pursuing. "Let's go up to Hammerstein's Victoria theater," he said to me. "The champion woman bag puncher of the world is on the bill there this week."

Before departing, my friend took the precaution to make a date to meet the woman in Shine's at eleven-thirty the next night to discuss his theories further and perhaps have a demonstration.

"I have a good-looking girl friend I would like to have you try it out on," said Geraghty. "I want to see if it works before I take a chance myself."

"Okay," responded the man who had now built himself up into position of some importance by his talk, not to mention a few shots of straight bourbon.

• — • — •

At the stage door, we met a tough guardian which is usually the case, but the Geraghty smile and cane and blarney finally won out so we got to the female bag puncher after her act. She didn't look the part when dressed, being pretty and feminine. Her muscles, concealed by a becoming costume, would cause no suspicion on the part of our friend. When the problem was explained to her, she readily fell in with our plans and agreed to meet us the next night at eleven-thirty.

The professor, as we now called him, showed up as arranged and had lost none of his enthusiasm for his theories overnight. In fact, he seemed to think he was going to make an international reputation.

"This is Miss Musclebound, my girl friend," said Tom Geraghty introducing the champion bag puncher. "I have been telling her about your ideas on treating women, so as to make them affectionate, and she is very much interested. You might even call her excited."

"Yes," smiled the lady innocently enough.

Well, to make a long story shorter, we paid for the drinks to get the professor in the proper mental mood, and he began to expound his theory, until he came to the point where he felt a demonstration was called for when he made a pass at the bag puncher who, expecting it, ducked, and then let him have it with both fists. Talk about a punching bag, he was one for five minutes, being knocked off his chair and finally flat in the sawdust. The performance was perfect. What happened to his theory we never found out, but it seems he lived, because I read where he was discharged from Bellevue Hospital about ten days later.

"And now," said Mr. Geraghty, "he'll have to start all over again."

The female bag puncher appeared as scheduled the next day at Hammerstein's.

Much Bundle Day Clothing Goes To Rural Families

Collections Start Tomorrow In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—"Bundle Day" clothing, which will be collected at schools in Mineral County tomorrow and Friday, is shipped not only to devastated regions overseas but is also distributed to needy rural areas of America, according to Haven L. Idleman, superintendent of Mineral County schools.

If it were not for the bundle day collections, which are sponsored by "Save - the - Children Federation," many of the less fortunate children in our own country would not be able to attend school during the inclement weather because of lack of proper clothing, the superintendent said.

The Federation lists warm clothing, such as heavy underwear, wool skirts, suits, sweaters, and coats, as the most important. Bundle day clothing goe to people whose first need is warmth, not style. If the clothing is warm, even adult sizes can be cut down and gratefully used.

Children's shoes are next in importance. Even though scuffed, America's outgrown shoes still have many miles of use left in them. Here again, some adult sizes can be used because rural children overseas and in America often have very broad feet.

Spare sheets, pillow-cases or blankets will find a ready welcome in many European homes. Babies' clothing is in constant demand. Diapers, crib-blankets, night shirts, caps and mittens are almost forgotten in many countries, and observers have reported babies with improvised diapers frozen to their legs because there was no change.

Mrs. Gordon S. White, director of Federation's New York workroom, which packs all bundle day clothing sent overseas, and much of that for domestic use, in a note to Idleman stressed the importance of having all gifts clean and in as good repair as possible "not only because of the scarcity of thread and patching material overseas, but also because these gifts will be symbols of new hope to many needy children."

The Federation features prompt shipment of all bundle day clothing. Overseas, all clothing is given away. In America it has been found a sounder social practice to make a small token charge, when feasible, for pround mountain families who "don't want charity" but who often are unable to purchase adequate clothing for their children.

Clothing for isolated rural areas is placed on racks, the prices marked. A child's sweater may be priced 25 cents or 35 cents. Other prices are similarly low. After allowance has been made for expenses, the proceeds of the sales are used for the further benefit of children in the areas served. Care is taken to see that none is denied clothing for lack of ability to pay.

Families who are on relief and have no money at all for clothes apply to their county welfare officer, who certifies to the amount of clothing they need. The local committee then gives the family a clothing check for that value. The family is thus able to visit the salesroom, select the clothing they need, and "purchase" it with this clothing check without having their inability to pay cash displayed publicly.

County Board May Rent Offices

Rental of office space in the Union Street County Building when the structure is put into use again in the near future was discussed yesterday at a meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

There will be space available on the second floor of the building and probably two offices will be rented on the first floor.

Hunter B. Helfrich, of the Wright-Richardson Company, was authorized to erect partitions in one section of the second floor for the office of Lewis M. Wilson, local attorney, who had a ten-year lease prior to the gutting of the building by fire last April.

The board decided to delay any other partition erection at this time and to rent out space with the provision that the tenants pay for their own partition work. Helfrich said he was also interested in renting one of the offices on the second floor. His application was filed. It is expected that Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will return to its former offices on the second floor.

Leases which had been held for offices by the Army recruiting service, Veterans' Administration, Army Officers Reserve Corps, Rent Control and other governmental agencies were cancelled after the fire last spring. It is not expected that any of these offices will return to the remodelled building as they have obtained space in the local Postoffice building.

Offices which will be moved to the building within a few weeks include the state's attorneys office, Trial Magistrates' Court, county engineer and county investigator.

The board also authorized the Otis Elevator Company to repair the elevator at the Court House.

Industrial Group Has Routine Session

The Cumberland Industrial Location Committee's executive group met last night at the City Hall and heard a report on progress being made with the promotion brochure being printed, according to Howard M. Smith, chairman.

Several inquiries have been received regarding Cumberland and information requested has been sent out with follow-up programs planned, Smith said.

The brochure is now at the printer's, engravings have been received and delivery is expected in a couple of weeks. Plans have been made to display the completed booklet in the windows of the Liberty Trust Company, Baltimore and Centre Streets.

Textile Workers Plan Nomination

Today's meeting is scheduled at 8 p. m. while the meeting tomorrow will be held at 10:30 a. m.

Emery Appeals Bus Terminal Payment Order

Denied Authorizing Building Of Station

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—The Court of Appeals today was asked to decide who should foot the bill for a bus terminal in Cumberland.

Robert L. Emery, Jr., of Martinsburg, W. Va., and the Emery Motor Coach Lines, appealed from an Allegany County Court order directing him to pay $3,945 to the George F. Hazelwood Company of Cumberland, contractor.

Emery denied that he authorized the contractor to go ahead with the job. The bus station was built in part of the Merchandise Mart at Cumberland in 1946, for rental to Emery at $225 a month.

The Merchandise Mart denied that it authorized the remodeling of its ground floor.

"There seems to be a complete misunderstanding as to who authorized the work done, but no misunderstanding that the work was done," Judge William A. Huster ruled in the lower court. Huster ordered Emery to pay the bill.

Other cases taken under advisement by the Appeals Court included:

1. Appeal of Leonard Curry, 48, negro handyman of Annapolis, from an 18-year jail sentence for killing his wife. Curry was convicted of running down Hattie Curry, 43, half a block from the State House. He said she fell out of his car and was struck down accidentally.

2. Appeal of Elsie Wilson from a Howard County Circuit Court verdict of $5 apiece and costs to Thomas M. Waters, Joseph M. Burley and Mrs. Burley. They sued on grounds that Elsie Wilson put up a gate across a roadway near their homes at North Laurel blocking their right of way.

Kelley To Head County Bar

The Allegany County Bar Association elected Estel C. Kelley president succeeding Clarence Lippel at a meeting yesterday in the Court House.

are caused by the price supports. "There are not price supports on cattle or sheep or hogs or poultry or milk or vegetables except potatoes," he said. "The high prices for meat came about because there was too much city money . . ."

Another convention speaker, Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Iowa, recommended lower tariffs. Mrs. Sayre, president of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau, said "In this world of economic interdependence, it is important that we buy from European nations, as well as to sell to them, if the world is to be put back on its feet."

Jury Awards Youth $2,650

Ronald Uplinger, 18, Corriganville, was awarded $2,650 in his $10,000 damage suit yesterday by a Circuit Court jury which deliberated only half an hour.

Uplinger was claiming damages from Leslie Bohrer, 17, this city, as the result of injuries sustained in a highway crash December 7, 1947, near Bedford, Pa.

Uplinger claimed several injuries which hospitalized him four months and the loss of wages during nine months following the accident. Bohrer was driving a car which crashed and upset against a cinder pile along the highway.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Uplinger, told the jury that his client was unconscious for 30 days following the crash and underwent a serious operation in Memorial Hospital. He was a patient in Timmins Hospital, Bedford, for ten days following the crash.

Uplinger claimed he incurred hospital bills of $1,500 and lost $1,000 in wages as a result of the crash. He was a passenger in Bohrer's car.

The defense attorney, D. Lindley Sloan, said that his client was not responsible for the accident because of any negligence, but the steering mechanism had broken to cause the machine to swerve from the road. It was brought out that the machine had been bought several weeks before the accident.

Ryan contended that Bohrer admitted to Pennsylvania State Police that he was driving fast and later made a similar admission before a justice of the peace in Bedford after the mishap. Bohrer was not injured in the accident.

Civil trials scheduled before Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., today include Lionel Clark, against Lloyd E. Connor. Michael W. Belfoure against Edward Belfoure, Adrianus H. Vanderhout against Foster C. Clover and Marguerite Wrightman against American Stores Company.

Lead cooled to two degrees of absolute zero will repel a magnet.

Miss Gene H. Miller, 804 Greene Street, was home for the weekend from Annapolis, where she is secretary to Louis J. O'Donnell, assistant to Gov. William Preston Lane.

Japan had more than 1,000 earthquakes in the single month of September, 1923.

Repairs Postpone Trainer Classes

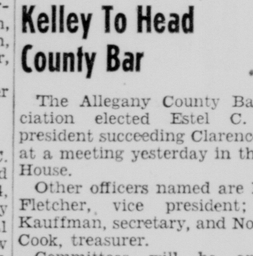

Link trainer classes will have to be postponed for a short time because of repairs needed by the trainer now housed at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, Capt. William Johnson, commander of Cumberland squadron, Civil Air Patrol, announced last night.

Capt. Johnson said examination of the machine showed several parts which need repair and several which will need replacement. William P. Claar, qualified Link trainer instructor and mechanic, has already done some repairs and will co-operate with senior patrol members in a work session tonight at 7:45.

Claar, although unable to attend regular CAP meetings, has volunteered to train a partol member to operate the Link trainer, Capt. Johnson said. He was unable to estimate closely when the program would begin as a full report of new parts needed from Baltimore has not been compiled. He added, however, the report would have to be sent by January 17.

At the regular meeting last night in the Pennsylvania Avenue School, Second Lt. Earl Wilson, Jr., training officer, led classes in the Organization of the United States Air Force.

Weather classes will begin at the next meeting, Capt. Johnson said.

Much Bundle Day Clothing Goes To Rural Families

Collections Start Tomorrow In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—"Bundle Day" clothing, which will be collected at schools in Mineral County tomorrow and Friday, is shipped not only to devastated regions overseas but is also distributed to needy rural areas of America, according to Haven L. Idleman, superintendent of Mineral County schools.

If it were not for the bundle day collections, which are sponsored by "Save-the-Children Federation," many of the less fortunate children in our own country would not be able to attend school during the inclement weather because of lack of proper clothing, the superintendent said.

The Federation lists warm clothing, such as heavy underwear, wool skirts, suits, sweaters, and coats, as the most important. Bundle day clothing goe to people whose first need is warmth, not style. If the clothing is warm, even adult sizes can be cut down and gratefully used.

Children's shoes are next in importance. Even though scuffed, America's outgrown shoes still have many miles of use left in them. Here again, some adult sizes can be used because rural children overseas and in America often have very broad feet.

Spare sheets, pillow-cases or blankets will find a ready welcome in many European homes. Babies' clothing is in constant demand. Diapers, crib-blankets, night shirts, caps and mittens are almost forgotten in many countries, and observers have reported babies with improvised diapers frozen to their legs because there was no change.

Mrs. Gordon S. White, director of Federation's New York workroom, which packs all bundle day clothing sent overseas, and much of that for domestic use, in a note to Idleman stressed the importance of having all gifts clean and in as good repair as possible "not only because of the scarcity of thread and patching material overseas, but also because these gifts will be symbols of new hope to many needy children."

The Federation features prompt shipment of all bundle day clothing. Overseas, all clothing is given away. In America it has been found a sounder social practice to make a small token charge, when feasible, for pround mountain families who "don't want charity" but who often are unable to purchase adequate clothing for their children.

Clothing for isolated rural areas is placed on racks, the prices marked. A child's sweater may be priced 25 cents or 35 cents. Other prices are similarly low. After allowance has been made for expenses, the proceeds of the sales are used for the further benefit of children in the areas served. Care is taken to see that none is denied clothing for lack of ability to pay.

Families who are on relief and have no money at all for clothes apply to their county welfare officer, who certifies to the amount of clothing they need. The local committee then gives the family a clothing check for that value. The family is thus able to visit the salesroom, select the clothing they need, and "purchase" it with this clothing check without having their inability to pay cash displayed publicly.

County Board May Rent Offices

Rental of office space in the Union Street County Building when the structure is put into use again in the near future was discussed yesterday at a meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

There will be space available on the second floor of the building and probably two offices will be rented on the first floor.

Hunter B. Helfrich, of the Wright-Richardson Company, was authorized to erect partitions in one section of the second floor for the office of Lewis M. Wilson, local attorney, who had a ten-year lease prior to the gutting of the building by fire last April.

The board decided to delay any other partition erection at this time and to rent out space with the provision that the tenants pay for their own partition work. Helfrich said he was also interested in renting one of the offices on the second floor. His application was filed. It is expected that Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will return to its former offices on the second floor.

Leases which had been held for offices by the Army recruiting service, Veterans' Administration, Army Officers Reserve Corps, Rent Control and other governmental agencies were cancelled after the fire last spring. It is not expected that any of these offices will return to the remodelled building as they have obtained space in the local Postoffice building.

Offices which will be moved to the building within a few weeks include the state's attorneys office, Trial Magistrates' Court, county engineer and county investigator.

The board also authorized the Otis Elevator Company to repair the elevator at the Court House.

Industrial Group Has Routine Session

The Cumberland Industrial Location Committee's executive group met last night at the City Hall and heard a report on progress being made with the promotion brochure being printed, according to Howard M. Smith, chairman.

Several inquiries have been received regarding Cumberland and information requested has been sent out with follow-up programs planned, Smith said.

The brochure is now at the printer's, engravings have been received and delivery is expected in a couple of weeks. Plans have been made to display the completed booklet in the windows of the Liberty Trust Company, Baltimore and Centre Streets.

By BENNETT CERF

There's a spry old fellow in Barnstable—ninety-five if he's a day—who runs his business in his own way. Playing checkers in the rear of the store, his opponent said suddenly, "I think I hear a customer up front." "Keep quiet," cautioned the local John Wanamaker. "Maybe he'll decide nobody's here and go away."

Another time he sought a loan of a thousand dollars from the town's leading banker, who was somewhat hard of hearing. "Speak a bit louder," ordered the banker, "and reduce the amount a little."

William A. Brady, veteran producer and husband of Grace George, recalled, "To keep up morale in my staff, and to fool rival producers and theatrical reporters, I have instructed managers of my road companies to add three hundred dollars to their nightly reports of box-office receipts. The system worked fine until one of them wired, "Only theatre in town burned to the ground this afternoon. No performance. Receipts $300."

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does "losing" your husband mean you're unattractive?

Answer: Certainly not. That is rarely the main reason, even though you "lose" him to another woman. It is far more likely, for example, that he thinks at last he has found someone who will give him the unreasoning devotion that he got—or wanted—from his mother as a baby. The most dangerous temptation to which a "discarded" wife is subject is to do things to prove she is still attractive which are not worth doing for their own sake—things like marrying a man whose love means nothing to her but a reassurance of her own "charm."

The youngest vice president of the United States at the date of his inauguration was John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky, who was 36 years old when inaugurated, in 1857.

Should you take a small child to the movies?

Answer: Not if you can help it. For one thing, the "close-ups" probably will terrify him because they seem so gigantic. But what's more important, a successful movie is one that creates excitement and at least some "nervous tension," and while a child may have no idea what this is about, he will sense it and be upset by it. Children should live in an atmosphere in which the disturbances are of their own making, and a child who sees his mother "stirred up" or in tears is apt to feel that the foundations of his life are shaken.

Do private schools train better students?

Answer: No, says Carl C. Seltzer in the Journal of Psychology, after studying the records of nearly 2000 Harvard freshmen. So far is their college grades were concerned, students admitted from public schools were "markedly superior" to those from fashionable "prep schools," with young men from private day schools ranking in the middle. The reason may not be so much that the public schools have better teachers as that among people of moderate incomes only the exceptionally able and ambitious young men get to college at all.

Ridgeley Beats LaSalle, 44-18; Sentinels Cop 8th Straight

Hawks Mark Up Second Victory Over City Five

Mullaney's Passers Weaken In Stretch

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks made it two in a row over Cumberland opposition on the basketball courts by walloping LaSalle High's Explorers 44-18 last night on SS. Peter and Paul court.

It was the third victory in five starts for the West Virginians while the defeat was LaSalle's sixth in nine forays. Approximately 350 fans witnessed the contest.

Coach John Mullaney's smaller and inexperienced quint made a battle of it for more than two periods but weakened in the stretch and were unable to hold the fast-breaking Hawks in check.

Held To Three Goals

Employing a sliding form of man-to-man and zone defense the Explorers held the high-scoring Ridgeley five to three field goals in the first half, but Coach Jesse Riggleman's charges finally wore down the stout-hearted resistance of the underdogs and romped off with the decision.

An excellent night at the foul line enabled the visitors to build up a slim margin through the first two quarters and break the game wide open in the final stages of the fray.

The Hawks connected for eight straight charity tosses before Leo Day muffed two in a row with only 15 seconds remaining in the first half. This impressive display at the 15-foot line gave the Hawks an 8-1 lead at the quarter and a 14-7 advantage at intermission.

Eight Straight Conversions

Roy Comer hooped four straight charity tosses, Paul Lindsay three in a row and Don Loy a singleton while Lindsay dumped in two rebounds for two-pointers and Comer netted a layup for the Hawks' three fielders.

LaSalle, held scoreless from the field until 2:20 was gone in the second stanza, connected twice in rapid succession on long set shots by Dick Leo and Francis Kitzmiller to pull within four points at 10-6 but were unable to dent the Ridgeley armor much after that.

Leo's set heave opened the scoring seconds after the third quarter got underway and "Chuck" Sitter caged a free throw to bring the score to 14-10 but Lindsay connected with a pivot heave, Comer potted a foul, and then dribbled in for a layup, Fisher pushed in a rebound and Comer hit again with a one-hander before Sitter's toss from the side broke the ice for the Explorers. The Hawks led 29-15 at the close of the quarter.

Allegany Routs Central Quintet By Score Of 54-24

Four Collect 44 Points, Two Ejected After Row

By MERVIN TRAIL

A fast-breaking Allegany five routed Johnny Meyers' highly touted Central quintet 54 to 24, last night at Campobello.

The Campers got off to a flying start in the initial period as they tallied five markers before Bobby Lee dumped in a basket to score for Central. The Campers then reeled off six straight points and Don McKenzie registered a basket and a foul to make the first period score 11 to 5 in favor of the Campers.

In the second canto it was all Allegany as they chalked up 16 points while holding the visiting five to three counters. Eddie Landefeld, Ronnie Sisk, and Bob Lookabaugh sparked this hard charging drive, with Landefeld dumping in three consecutive baskets as the first half ended.

The Bowersmen came out in the third period and showed the same fast-breaking ball of old Alco teams as they again held Central to three markers and amassed a total of 17 points for themselves. At the end of the third period the score stood at 44 to 11.

In the final period of play Coach Walter "Bill" Bowers sent in his second string, but they were not to be overlooked. A tall 6' 3" redhead by the name of Frank Phares put on an outstanding show for the Campers as he tallied all 10 of the Campers points in the final stanza. The Orange and Black from Lonaconing were not to be left out of the picture altogether because they scored 13 points in the final canto, more than they had marked up in the three previous quarters.

The fans were provided with a bit of excitement as John "Dory" Vernall and Marty Eichhorn started sort of a row and both players were ejected from the game.

Referees Are Imported To Work Local Contests

Local Board Arbiters Announce Withdrawal

Four new officials were imported by Arthur G. Ramey of the Allegany Board of Education last night to work the Allegany-Central and Fort Hill-Beall contests here after members of the Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia Board of Approved Officials had notified him that they would not report for the contests at the Campobello and Fort Hill courts.

Bill Masterson and John Visnovsky, Pennsylvania officials, handled the contest at Fort Hill while Dale Baer and Larry Batterson worked the contest at AHS.

Eddie Diehl and Ed Thompson were originally slated to handle the game at Allegany while Bill Spangler and William "Bee" Orndorff had been assigned to the Fort Hill-Beall tilt.

The board last night charged that Ramey assigned the four local officials to these games without their consent and that he attempted to influence probationary members of the board to work the games for $7.50 for the purpose of freezing out those arbiters whose fee was set at $10. The board recently set $10 as a fee for one set of officials and $7.50 for the others, stipulating that two probationary officials would not be permitted to work together.

Ramey has announced that the Allegany County Board of Education will not pay officials more than $7.50, the same amount as they received last season.

Pennsylvania board officials receive $10 for working Class "B" games and $17.50 for Class "A" games which is much more than is paid in this section. The district board charges that Ramey turned down the local arbiters and hired Pennsylvania officials for the same amount or more than was being asked by the top officials working regularly in Cumberland and vicinity.

Masterson and Visnovsky have worked a number of games played by Bedford High School.

Cincinnati Takes Two Grid Coaches From Ohio Rival

Miami Cries "Raiding" In Describing Action

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11 (AP) — The University of Cincinnati today took two football coaches away from Miami University, it's neighboring gridiron rival, and a high Miami official used the word "raiding" to describe the action.

Four hours after denying U. C. officials had even talked with the coaches, M. Charles Mileham, athletic director at Cincinnati, issued a formal announcement that George Blackburn, head coach at Miami, and Joe Madro, his assistant, would be signed at U. C., effective Jan. 15.

At Cincinnati, Blackburn and Madro will join Sid Gillman, only recently named as the Bearcat head coach. Gillman formerly was head mentor at Miami and Blackburn and Madro were his assistants there. He came to U. C. after a year as line coach at Army.

The action definitely strained relations between Miami and Cincinnati, which have been playing football against each other for 60 years.

Both schools are members of the Mid-American Conference.

C. Vivan Anderson of Cincinnati, president of the Miami board of directors, who first disclosed that Blackburn and Madro had quit at Miami, said:

"I am sure Miami University would not raid another institution with which it has been in friendly athletic relations for more than a half century."

Anderson said he believed the whole affair would "blow over," but he added that "there already have been calls from Miami people urging that we cancel the Thanksgiving Day football game." The Miami-Cincinnati game is an annual Thanksgiving Day affair.

Yankees' Owner Moves For Peace In Pro Football

Would Rent Stadium To Boston NFL Club

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees, still talking pro football peace, today prepared to discuss Yankee Stadium rent terms with the Boston Yanks of the National League.

Dan Topping, Yankee president, said he would meet soon with Horace Stoneham, president of the New York baseball Giants; Ted Collins, owner of the Boston Yanks who recently were moved to New York; and the Maras (Tim and Jack), owners of the New York Giants of the National Football League.

"There will be a team of New York Yankees at the stadium in 1949," said Topping. He was talking at a press conference called following a New York Herald Tribune story that reported the Yanks were dropping out of the All-America Conference.

"Whether that club will be owned by the New York Yankees, Inc., or by somebody else," Topping continued, "will be determined within 10 days during the pro football meetings opening at Chicago, Jan. 18.

"If the club is operated by us," he said, "no peace will be made. If somebody else runs in the stadium with us as landlords it will be in the interests of peace.

"Peace or a Yankee-Topping club in the stadium," is the current slogan.

Topping said he had several meetings with Stoneham, who rents the Polo Grounds to the football Giants. Football often was the main topic of conversation.

Topping May Be Landlord

"Horace is very strong in urging me to become a landlord," Topping said, "in the interests of pro football peace. I know he feels, even more than we do that three New York teams would be the ruination of any league and of pro football.

"I don't think he's anxious to have two clubs in the Polo Grounds. Probably the only reason he would do it is because of his moral obligation to Mara. I am sure he is going to do everything to work this out so that there will not be three New York clubs. Horace is arranging the meeting with Collins and the Maras.

"We've decided it's better business to be a landlord than a pro football operator. Look at Stoneham. All he has to worry about is a drop in profits. He never has a loss."

Topping repeated earlier statements that he would not act without the full cooperation of other members of the All-America Conference.

Must Get OK From AA

"As I have said many times in the past," he declared "we will not make any move at the stadium that will not receive the unanimous vote of the present conference members. We made the conference possible by entering it. We very definitely have legal and moral obligations to live up to.

"We are willing (please do not say anxious) to become landlords if it means peace in pro football."

Topping said he never had discussed rental terms with Collins Mara or anybody else. Referring to his imment meeting with Collins and the Maras, the Yankee executive said.

"I want to see if it would be possible to work out a lease before I go into the conference meetings next week."

According to Topping, Yankee football players now under contract and those signed since the 1948 season will be "taken care of" if the Yankees do not operate their own club. He gave similar assurance to the coaching and scouting staff.

"I am sure our club is many times stronger than the Boston Yanks," he said, "I don't think the 1948 Boston team would draw any better here than it did in Boston. The arrangements on players would be an important factor in discussing any terms."

If the Conference and National League are able to get together during their Chicago meetings, topping probably will get a guaranteed rent and an option on a percentage of the gate from the Yanks.

Ridgeley Beats LaSalle, 44-18; Sentinels Cop 8th Straight

Hawks Mark Up Second Victory Over City Five

Mullaney's Passers Weaken In Stretch

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks made it two in a row over Cumberland opposition on the basketball courts by walloping LaSalle High's Explorers 44-18 last night on SS. Peter and Paul court.

It was the third victory in five starts for the West Virginians while the defeat was LaSalle's sixth in nine forays. Approximately 350 fans witnessed the contest.

Coach John Mullaney's smaller and inexperienced quint made a battle of it for more than two periods but weakened in the stretch and were unable to hold the fast-breaking Hawks in check.

Held To Three Goals

Employing a sliding form of man-to-man and zone defense the Explorers held the high-scoring Ridgeley five to three field goals in the first half, but Coach Jesse Riggleman's charges finally wore down the stout-hearted resistance of the underdogs and romped off with the decision.

An excellent night at the foul line enabled the visitors to build up a slim margin through the first two quarters and break the game wide open in the final stages of the fray.

The Hawks connected for eight straight charity tosses before Leo Day muffed two in a row with only 15 seconds remaining in the first half. This impressive display at the 15-foot line gave the Hawks an 8-1 lead at the quarter and a 14-7 advantage at intermission.

Eight Straight Conversions

Roy Comer hooped four straight charity tosses, Paul Lindsay three in a row and Don Loy a singleton while Lindsay dumped in two rebounds for two-pointers and Comer netted a layup for the Hawks' three fielders.

LaSalle, held scoreless from the field until 2:20 was gone in the second stanza, connected twice in rapid succession on long set shots by Dick Leo and Francis Kitzmiller to pull within four points at 10-6 but were unable to dent the Ridgeley armor much after that.

Leo's set heave opened the scoring seconds after the third quarter got underway and "Chuck" Sitter caged a free throw to bring the score to 14-10 but Lindsay connected with a pivot heave, Comer potted a foul, and then dribbled in for a layup, Fisher pushed in a rebound and Comer hit again with a one-hander before Sitter's toss from the side broke the ice for the Explorers. The Hawks led 29-15 at the close of the quarter.

Teams Play Subs

Both coaches employed subs in the final period with the Blackhawks outscoring the Centre Streeters 15-3.

Ridgeley wound up the evening with 16 fouls in 24 chances while LaSalle hooped only 6 of 14. Comer and Lindsay paced the 14-goal attack of the Mineral Countians with 13 points apeace while no player got more than five points for the losers.

Comer, Lindsay, Dorsey and Loy played outstanding floor games for the Rigglemen although the husky Lindsay left the game with 45 seconds remaining in the third period via the personal foul route. Sitter, Leo, Kitzmiller and Arnone were LaSalle's best. The lineups:

Four Collect 44 Points, Two Ejected After Row

By MERVIN TRAIL

A fast-breaking Allegany five routed Johnny Meyers' highly touted Central quintet 54 to 24, last night at Campobello.

The Campers got off to a flying start in the initial period as they tallied five markers before Bobby Lee dumped in a basket to score for Central. The Campers then reeled off six straight points and Don McKenzie registered a basket and a foul to make the first period score 11 to 5 in favor of the Campers.

In the second canto it was all Allegany as they chalked up 16 points while holding the visiting five to three counters. Eddie Landefeld, Ronnie Sisk, and Bob Lookabaugh sparked this hard charging drive, with Landefeld dumping in three consecutive baskets as the first half ended.

The Bowersmen came out in the third period and showed the same fast-breaking ball of old Alco teams as they again held Central to three markers and amassed a total of 17 points for themselves. At the end of the third period the score stood at 44 to 11.

In the final period of play Coach Walter "Bill" Bowers sent in his second string, but they were not to be overlooked. Referees Are Imported To Work Local Contests

Local Board Arbiters Announce Withdrawal

Four new officials were imported by Arthur G. Ramey of the Allegany Board of Education last night to work the Allegany-Central and Fort Hill-Beall contests here after members of the Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia Board of Approved Officials had notified him that they would not report for the contests at the Campobello and Fort Hill courts.

Bill Masterson and John Visnovsky, Pennsylvania officials, handled the contest at Fort Hill while Dale Baer and Larry Ratterson worked the contest at AHS.

Eddie Diehl and Ed Thompson were originally slated to handle the game at Allegany while Bill Spangler and William "Bee" Orndorff had been assigned to the Fort Hill-Beall tilt.

The board last night charged that Ramey assigned the four local officials to these games without their consent and that he attempted to influence probationary members of the board to work the games for $7.50 for the purpose of freezing out those arbiters whose fee was set at $10. The board recently set $10 as a fee for one set of officials and $7.50 for the others, stipulating that two probationary officials would not be permitted to work together.

Ramey has announced that the Allegany County Board of Education will not pay officials more than $7.50, the same amount as they received last season.

Pennsylvania board officials receive $10 for working Class "B" games and $17.50 for Class "A" games which is much more than is paid in this section. The district board charges that Ramey turned down the local arbiters and hired Pennsylvania officials for the same amount or more than was being asked by the top officials working regularly in Cumberland and vicinity.

Masterson and Visnovsky have worked a number of games played by Bedford High School.

Cincinnati Takes Two Grid Coaches From Ohio Rival

Miami Cries "Raiding" In Describing Action

CINCINNATI, Jan. 11 (AP) — The University of Cincinnati today took two football coaches away from Miami University, it's neighboring gridiron rival, and a high Miami official used the word "raiding" to describe the action.

Four hours after denying U. C. officials had even talked with the coaches, M. Charles Mileham, athletic director at Cincinnati, issued a formal announcement that George Blackburn, head coach at Miami, and Joe Madro, his assistant, would be signed at U. C., effective Jan. 15.

At Cincinnati, Blackburn and Madro will join Sid Gillman, only recently named as the Bearcat head coach. Gillman formerly was head mentor at Miami and Blackburn and Madro were his assistants there. He came to U. C. after a year as line coach at Army.

The action definitely strained relations between Miami and Cincinnati, which have been playing football against each other for 60 years.

Both schools are members of the Mid-American Conference.

C. Vivan Anderson of Cincinnati, president of the Miami board of directors, who first disclosed that Blackburn and Madro had quit at Miami, said:

"I am sure Miami University would not raid another institution with which it has been in friendly athletic relations for more than a half century."

Anderson said he believed the whole affair would "blow over," but he added that "there already have been calls from Miami people urging that we cancel the Thanksgiving Day football game." The Miami-Cincinnati game is an annual Thanksgiving Day affair.

Yankees' Owner Moves For Peace In Pro Football

Would Rent Stadium To Boston NFL Club

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees, still talking pro football peace, today prepared to discuss Yankee Stadium rent terms with the Boston Yanks of the National League.

Dan Topping, Yankee president, said he would meet soon with Horace Stoneham, president of the New York baseball Giants; Ted Collins, owner of the Boston Yanks who recently were moved to New York; and the Maras (Tim and Jack), owners of the New York Giants of the National Football League.

"There will be a team of New York Yankees at the stadium in 1949," said Topping. He was talking at a press conference called following a New York Herald Tribune story that reported the Yanks were dropping out of the All-America Conference.

"Whether that club will be owned by the New York Yankees, Inc., or by somebody else," Topping continued, "will be determined within 10 days during the pro football meetings opening at Chicago, Jan. 18.

"If the club is operated by us," he said, "no peace will be made. If somebody else runs in the stadium with us as landlords it will be in the interests of peace.

"Peace or a Yankee-Topping club in the stadium," is the current slogan.

Topping said he had several meetings with Stoneham, who rents the Polo Grounds to the football Giants. Football often was the main topic of conversation.

Topping May Be Landlord

"Horace is very strong in urging me to become a landlord," Topping said, "in the interests of pro football peace. I know he feels, even more than we do that three New York teams would be the ruination of any league and of pro football.

"I don't think he's anxious to have two clubs in the Polo Grounds. Probably the only reason he would do it is because of his moral obligation to Mara. I am sure he is going to do everything to work this out so that there will not be three New York clubs. Horace is arranging the meeting with Collins and the Maras.

"We've decided it's better business to be a landlord than a pro football operator. Look at Stoneham. All he has to worry about is a drop in profits. He never has a loss."

Topping repeated earlier statements that he would not act without the full cooperation of other members of the All-America Conference.

Must Get OK From AA

"As I have said many times in the past," he declared "we will not make any move at the stadium that will not receive the unanimous vote of the present conference members. We made the conference possible by entering it. We very definitely have legal and moral obligations to live up to.

"We are willing (please do not say anxious) to become landlords if it means peace in pro football."

Topping said he never had discussed rental terms with Collins Mara or anybody else. Referring to his imment meeting with Collins and the Maras, the Yankee executive said.

"I want to see if it would be possible to work out a lease before I go into the conference meetings next week."

According to Topping, Yankee football players now under contract and those signed since the 1948 season will be "taken care of" if the Yankees do not operate their own club. He gave similar assurance to the coaching and scouting staff.

"I am sure our club is many times stronger than the Boston Yanks," he said, "I don't think the 1948 Boston team would draw any better here than it did in Boston. The arrangements on players would be an important factor in discussing any terms."

If the Conference and National League are able to get together during their Chicago meetings, topping probably will get a guaranteed rent and an option on a percentage of the gate from the Yanks.

WILSON, N. C., Jan. 11—They're still talking about the gosh-darndest basketball tournament ever held anywhere.

No feudin', fussin' or fightin' but good, clean fun.

That's the National Family Basketball tourney, just concluded, which had participants of both sexes, with the ages running anywhere from 9 to 61!

The competitors in the unusual event, which attracted 16 family teams from eight states, drop their plow-lines, abandon factory or office work and yes, even housework, to come to this Carolina town for three days of sport.

The games are played in a small gym and the spectators are literally jammed to the rafters as you can see in one of the pictures above.

Winner of the tourney for the second straight year was the famous Clark Twins of Huntington, Ind. The Clarks defeated the Hartleys of High Point, N. C., in the final, 45-44.

* * *

THE CLARKS are made up of twins, four sets of them, including twin sisters. The Clarks play rough and ready basketball and tour the country playing exhibition matches.

Pop Hartley, a 61-year-old YMCA secretary, both plays and coaches the Hartleys, who are represented by six sons.

Other competitors in the family event are the Harmons, from Hanover, Pa.; the Griffins, from Elm City, N. C.; the Anthonys from Cherryville, N. C., and the Joyces from Fieldale, Va.

The Griffins are farmers; the Anthonys are made up of four farmers and a bus driver.

Scrappy Moore, professor at Atlantic Christian college, is the leader of the Moores, who field a team composed of papa, mama, a young daughter and two sons.

Naturally, in a tourney like this there is over-matching, but it's all good fun, anyway.

This darndest tourney may not be big league basketball but to both participants and spectators it's big league American spirit.

FAMILY TOURNEY IS GOSH-DARNDEST THING

But there's plenty of fun.

Champions of the family basketball world, the Clark Twins.

By Central Press

WILSON, N. C., Jan. 11—They're still talking about the gosh-darndest basketball tournament ever held anywhere.

No feudin', fussin' or fightin' but good, clean fun.

That's the National Family Basketball tourney, just concluded, which had participants of both sexes, with the ages running anywhere from 9 to 61!

The competitors in the unusual event, which attracted 16 family teams from eight states, drop their plow-lines, abandon factory or office work and yes, even housework, to come to this Carolina town for three days of sport.

The games are played in a small gym and the spectators are literally jammed to the rafters as you can see in one of the pictures above.

Winner of the tourney for the second straight year was the famous Clark Twins of Huntington, Ind. The Clarks defeated the Hartleys of High Point, N. C., in the final, 45-44.

• • •

THE CLARKS are made up of twins, four sets of them, including twin sisters. The Clarks play rough and ready basketball and tour the country playing exhibition matches.

Pop Hartley, a 61-year-old YMCA secretary, both plays and coaches the Hartleys, who are represented by six sons.

Other competitors in the family event are the Harmons, from Hanover, Pa.; the Griffins, from Elm City, N. C.; the Anthonys from Cherryville, N. C., and the Joyces from Fieldale, Va.

The Griffins are farmers; the Anthonys are made up of four farmers and a bus driver.

Scrappy Moore, professor at Atlantic Christian college, is the leader of the Moores, who field a team composed of papa, mama, a young daughter and two sons.

Scores of the games are close and if a player or two goes out on fouls, the team carries on with the remaining members.

Naturally, in a tourney like this there is over-matching, but it's all good fun, anyway.

This darndest tourney may not be big league basketball but to both participants and spectators it's big league American spirit.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11—(INS)—If there was ever a time when Universal-International looked on Donald O'Connor as just a cute kid to have around they've had an awakening with the receipts on the movies he made last year. His pictures have been made for peanuts but they brought in the cocoanuts.

Jean Parker

Now Don is set to get the "A" treatment all the way. No sooner does he finish "Yes Sir, That's My Baby," on February 7 than he starts "Curtain Call At Cactus Creek." The story gives Don a chance to do all the things he does best—singing, dancing, imitations—because it's about a handyman in the eighties who takes a repertoire company on the road.

Bill Goetz wants Gloria De Haven for the femme lead.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"When you guaranteed this vacuum cleaner to be foolproof you under-estimated my husband . . ."

The nightmare of all stage actors happened to Jean Parker during the second act of "Born Yesterday" in Kansas City. Without rhyme or reason a man got out of his seat in the audience, jumped onto the stage and started talking to her!

Jean was petrified—she didn't know whether he had a gun or not, or what would happen. With the equally petrified audience looking on she lead him to the wings where the boy, a "vet," collapsed.

To the tune of ambulance sirens and the arrival of the police the show continued—but the cast was badly unnerved. When the boy came to at the hospital he didn't remember a thing.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rhonda Fleming and William V. O'Connor were an unexpected twosome at Margaret Ettinger's cocktail party honoring Cormen Figueroa and Mrs. Larry Grey. Bill, who was pretty cut up at the time of his separation from Adele Dillingham, seemed to be having a very good time.

Gail Russell and Guy Madison okey-dokey again—at least it looked that way at the Seacomber's where they were holding hands.

Catherine McCleod, Frank Borzage's discovery, will soon have an announcement to make.

Frances Fonda in town to rent her house. She says she'll only rent it because she always wants to keep a home in California. Hank is still playing in "Mr. Roberts" on Broadway, and the children are in school, so she came here alone.

The William Paleys are being feted and feted. The Jack Bennys are giving them a dinner Saturday night, and the Jules Steins are hosting a cocktail party and buffet dinner Sunday night, and Amos and Andy are entertaining Wednesday. Mrs. Paley, listed as one of the ten best dressed women, is a beauty.

Montgomery Clift gets in town Wednesday and he's been offered any movie he wants.

Mrs. Burt Lancaster has given Burt a course in dancing at the Arthur Murray School. Seems Burt can square dance, but he ain't never gotten around to doing the new fangled steps.

A national magazine asked Bob Stack, Rhonda Fleming, Johnny Mack Brown and Lynn Bari to pose for a summer layout in shorts around a swimming pool. At that moment it decided to snow—the first time in 20 years. But California is wonderful, anyway!

That's all today.

Salomon August Andree left for the north pole in a balloon, Ornen, on July 11, 1897, from Virgo, Spitzbergen. The frozen bodies of Andree and his companions were found Aug. 6, 1931, on White Island, and removed to Norway for burial.

Beware Coughs Following Flu
After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and to aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. 5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit
If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!
Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.
Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!
Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.
Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.
How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.
Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.
Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.
Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 33¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin . . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and to aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!
Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.
Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!
Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.
Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.
How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.
Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.
Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.
When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit.
Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 33¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Expecting a Baby?
Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.
MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke Is Guest Of Honor At Trinity Methodist Dinner

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Lloyd C. Wicke, D.D., Pittsburgh, Pa., presiding bishop of the West Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church who is visiting the churches of this area, gave a talk at a dinner held in his honor Monday evening in the recreation hall of Trinity Methodist Church.

Bishop Wicke said in part, "People of this country have more of everything than any country in the world, but what we want is Peace in our hearts."

Two of the most widely sold recent books are "Peace of Mind," by Joshua Loth Liehman and "How to Stop Worrying and Start Living" by Dale Cornegie, proving what people are seeking most, he informed his listeners.

Bishop Wicke will return here in November to conduct a preaching service.

Dr. Fred W. Wyand, Romney, superintendent of the Moorefield District of the Methodist Church, introduced the Bishop to the 175 persons present.

The program also included an invocation by Rev. O. Clarence Mitchell, pastor of Trinity Church. The audience sang "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," led by Mrs. Helene Poland, with Mrs. William Thompson playing the piano accompaniments.

Rev Mitchell presented Carl W. Shaffer, chairman of the official board of the church, who introduced Dr. Wyand.

Preaching Mission Will Continue

FROSTBURG—Rev. John Edward Maybury, Bellemore, N. Y., who came here last week to conduct a preaching mission at the Frostburg Church of the Nazarene, Center and Charles Streets, has accepted an invitation of the young people of the congregation to remain another week. There will also be numbers each evening by "The Musical Gomers." The guest speaker is a son of Rev. John Wesley Maybury, pastor of the local church. He and his wife and infant daughter are guests at the parsonage, Bowery Street, extended.

MBS Realigning Programs; Mercer With Bing Crosby

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The MBS network, in process of further program realigning, is delving into its Wednesday night list and is coming up with the Comedy Playhouse for 10 o'clock. That's where Manhattan Playhouse had been performing.

The new series is designed to produce a different hit comedy each week, starting with "Three Men on a Horse." It is planned to restrict the series to what are described as "comedy successes of yester-year."

Eddie Cantor is to be the feature of Family Theater on MBS at 9:30 in a drama script titled "Gentlemen Be Seated," a story of the minstrel stage.

Johnny Mercer is to be with Bing Crosby on ABC at 10. That is, he is guesting in the recorded series.

Arthur Godfrey, whose Monday night talent scouts already is a regular television feature in addition to its network relay, is going further into television. He is to start an hour's week production for CBS at 8 Wednesday night under the title of "Godfrey and His Friends." The sponsor will be the same as for his CBS daytime series. The CBS tele-network will be made up of ten stations in as many cities.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Nice Family With A Housing Problem

One of the chief casualties from the rearrangement of Sunday nights is the Ozzie and Harriet program, which has an unfortunate habit of moving from one place to another at the worst possible time. For years the Nelson family roosted at the 6:30 p. m. time Sunday nights on C. B. S., a very nice time except that people in those days—gee, remember way back when—used to their keep radios tuned to N. B. C. on Sunday nights.

Ossie Nelson

Then C. B. S. decided it was foolish to try to throw one of their best shows against N. B. C. Sunday and moved it to Friday nights. Well, nobody seemed to listen to the radio Friday nights. A projected all-star Friday night line-up on C. B. S. fizzled badly and Ozzie and Harriet were worse off than ever. This year it looked as if everything would be just dandy. The Nelsons moved to 6:30 Sunday nights on N. B. C. just ahead of Jack Benny, heading a very popular lineup. After all those migrations, the Nelsons seemed permanently settled. Their Hooper was around 13, not good enough for the first fifteen but good enough. Everything was lovely. Then Benny moved to C. B. S. and Bergen quit. Ozzie and Harriet's Hooper on the first show without Benny and Bergen dropped to 8.2. Again it seems the neighborhood is not right and they may have to move again.

This is a shame because Ozzie and Harriet are the nicest young married couple on the air and one of the most human. The adventures of Ozzie and Harriet—that's the full name of the show—is the least hyped-up program I know. Nelson, who writes it, has an irreproachable feeling for good taste, a rare commodity in radio. In the trade his show is known as situation comedy and undoubtedly that's what it is.

Ozzie gets himself into some odd (though credible) situations, yet you never find a blonde in the bathtub at the climax.

There are darn few bromides—you can't expect there won't be any—in Nelson's comedy. He meets a girl on a bus who shows an uncommon interest in him; he gets the idea she's pursuing him; she isn't; she just wants back the bundle he inadvertently took. That's about as far into adventure as Ozzie ever gets—in other words, no further than the rest of us—and out of such slender material he fills a half hour with more honest laughter than seems possible.

His wife, an understanding female with a sense of humor, picks up after him patiently and occasionally pokes a little discreet though not unkind fun at him. Once in a while she upsets his routine, which isn't much of a feat. She served fried eggs one morning, in place of the boiled eggs sacred to Ozzie's breakfast. He was, of course, upset.

"How come fried eggs?"

"You don't like them?"

"Well—I ate them."

"You didn't smile."

"I never smile when I'm eating eggs."

The Nelsons' dialogue never gets much fancier than that—no gags about capital gains or Truman's piano or Cukamonga. The Nelson family is also distinguished for having two of the most winsome children in radio—Rickie and David. In fact they're the only two I can abide. They look upon their father with a nice blend of affection and skepticism and are the only children anywhere who consistently underplay their lines.

There are other characters—Ozzie's close friend Thorney, Harriet's mother and a bobbysoxer with the usual collections of adverbs. They're all nice people, but the real attraction is Ozzie, whose personality and intelligence enevlops it and holds it together. It's a one-man operation, which may be why it is so consistently good.

Now if some one would just stick it some place and keep it there . . . .

MBS Realigning Programs; Mercer With Bing Crosby

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The MBS network, in process of further program realigning, is delving into its Wednasday night list and is coming up with the Comedy Playhouse for 10 o'clock. That's where Manhattan Playhouse had been performing.

The new series is designed to produce a different hit comedy each week, starting with "Three Men on a Horse." It is planned to restrict the series to what are described as "comedy successes of yester-year."

Eddie Cantor is to be the feature of Family Theater on MBS at 9:30 in a drama script titled "Gentlemen Be Seated," a story of the minstrel stage.

Johnny Mercer is to be with Bing Crosby on ABC at 10. That is, he is guesting in the recorded series.

Arthur Godfrey, whose Monday night talent scouts already is a regular television feature in addition to its network relay, is going further into television. He is to start an hour's week production for CBS at 8 Wednesday night under the title of "Godfrey and His Friends." The sponsor will be the same as for his CBS daytime series. The CBS tele-network will be made up of ten stations in as many cities.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Nice Family With A Housing Problem

One of the chief casualties from the rearrangement of Sunday nights is the Ozzie and Harriet program, which has an unfortunate habit of moving from one place to another at the worst possible time. For years the Nelson family roosted at the 6:30 p. m. time Sunday nights on C. B. S., a very nice time except that people in those days—gee, remember way back when—used to their keep radios tuned to N. B. C. on Sunday nights.

Ossie Nelson

Then C. B. S. decided it was foolish to try to throw one of their best shows against N. B. C. Sunday and moved it to Friday nights. Well, nobody seemed to listen to the radio Friday nights. A projected all-star Friday night line-up on C. B. S. fizzled badly and Ozzie and Harriet were worse off than ever. This year it looked as if everything would be just dandy. The Nelsons moved to 6:30 Sunday nights on N. B. C. just ahead of Jack Benny, heading a very popular lineup. After all those migrations, the Nelsons seemed permanently settled. Their Hooper was around 13, not good enough for the first fifteen but good enough. Everything was lovely. Then Benny moved to C. B. S. and Bergen quit. Ozzie and Harriet's Hooper on the first show without Benny and Bergen dropped to 8.2. Again it seems the neighborhood is not right and they may have to move again.

This is a shame because Ozzie and Harriet are the nicest young married couple on the air and one of the most human. The adventures of Ozzie and Harriet—that's the full name of the show—is the least hyped-up program I know. Nelson, who writes it, has an irreproachable feeling for good taste, a rare commodity in radio. In the trade his show is known as situation comedy and undoubtedly that's what it is.

Ozzie gets himself into some odd (though credible) situations, yet you never find a blonde in the bathtub at the climax.

There are darn few bromides—you can't expect there won't be any—in Nelson's comedy. He meets a girl on a bus who shows an uncommon interest in him; he gets the idea she's pursuing him; she isn't; she just wants back the bundle he inadvertently took. That's about as far into adventure as Ozzie ever gets—in other words, no further than the rest of us—and out of such slender material he fills a half hour with more honest laughter than seems possible.

His wife, an understanding female with a sense of humor, picks up after him patiently and occasionally pokes a little discreet though not unkind fun at him. Once in a while she upsets his routine, which isn't much of a feat. She served fried eggs one morning, in place of the boiled eggs sacred to Ozzie's breakfast. He was, of course, upset.

"How come fried eggs?"

"You don't like them?"

"Well—I ate them."

"You didn't smile."

"I never smile when I'm eating eggs."

The Nelsons' dialogue never gets much fancier than that—no gags about capital gains or Truman's piano or Cukamonga. The Nelson family is also distinguished for having two of the most winsome children in radio—Rickie and David. In fact they're the only two I can abide. They look upon their father with a nice blend of affection and skepticism and are the only children anywhere who consistently underplay their lines.

There are other characters—Ozzie's close friend Thorney, Harriet's mother and a bobbysoxer with the usual collections of adverbs. They're all nice people, but the real attraction is Ozzie, whose personality and intelligence enevlops it and holds it together. It's a one-man operation, which may be why it is so consistently good.

Now if some one would just stick it some place and keep it there . . . .

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling Wife and Mother, Mrs. Eleanora Blacklin, who passed away one year ago, Jan 12, 1948.
God gave us a wonderful Mother, so kind, so loving and true;
Your dear blue eyes, a sweet smile
Your loving heart that knew no guile.
Deep Faith in God, that all was right,
Your joy was to make some other bright.
If sick or unhappy one you knew, We'd hear you softly praying for them,
Some act of Love you'd do.
No thought of self, but of the other.
Thank God for giving us such a wonderful Mother.
We know you are safe in God's arms dear.
An Angel will go where He roams;
'Tho your years in Heaven have just begun,
You'll always be missed here at home.
Sadly missed by your Husband and Daughters, Eleanora, Mary and Elva.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling Wife and Mother, Mrs. Eleanora Blacklin, who passed away one year ago, Jan 12, 1948.
God gave us a wonderful Mother, so kind, so loving and true;
Your dear blue eyes, a sweet smile
Your loving heart that knew no guile.
Deep Faith in God, that all was right,
Your joy was to make some other bright.
If sick or unhappy one you knew, we'd hear you softly praying for them,
Some act of Love you'd do.
No thought of self, but of the other.
Thank God for giving us such a wonderful Mother.
We know you are safe in God's arms dear,
An Angel will go where He roams;
The your years in Heaven have just begun,
You'll always be missed here at home.
Sadly missed by your Husband and Daughters, Eleanora, Mary and Elva.

Slow Pull Ahead In Late Trading Trims Earlier Stock Market Losses

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—A slow pull ahead in late trading wiped out or trimmed earlier losses in the stock market today.

On an average basis, the market ended just about where it started.

Turnover amounted to only 710,000 shares, even less than yesterday's 770,000 and one of the slowest sessions in months.

Price changes either way were mostly fractional.

Those higher included U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Studebaker, Firestone, Schenley, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Southern Railway, Standard Oil (NJ), Superior Oil of California (up three), and United Air Lines.

In the minus column were Sears Roebuck, Oliver Corp., Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Western Union, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Nickel Plate, Texas Co., and Transcontinental & Western Air.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 65.6, with the industrial component a little higher and the rails a trifle down.

Trading was narrow. Only 954 issues changed hands, of which 381 declined and 320 advanced.

Prices of U. S. Government long-term bonds advanced in a body in the over-the-counter market. Corporate liens were varied in light trading, with selected issues gaining two to three points.

Exchanges totaled $2,620,000, the lowest for a full session since last Tuesday, when trading dipped to $2,250,000. Yesterday's sales were $2,765,000.

Potomac Power Co. Makes Survey Of Moorefield Area Labor Potential

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—There is an average of 1,444 wives to 1,374 husbands in the Petersburg and Moorefield area, according to a recent labor potential survey conducted by the Potomac Light and Power Company.

Company officials were surprised by the result but discovered that this conformed with the national average. They offered no explanation of why this is so in the nation.

The survey was one of many taken in communities in four different states. Approximately 30 per cent of the population within a 15 mile radius of Moorefield was interviewed. One hundred per cent coverage of the two towns was included in the survey.

A total of 4,895 persons was questioned, of which 2,602 were males and 2,293 females. There were 1,777 men working and 323 employed women. A total of 233 men was unemployed and 498 potential working women were not holding jobs.

When questioned, 1,244 of the 2,602 men were interested in new jobs and 663 females of 2,293 interviewed would react favorably to employment offers.

The survey result was projected to include total population within the 15-mile radius based on the 30 per cent enumeration. The projected figures gave a total population of 14,896 and showed 776 men and 1,660 women unemployed.

The name of the company requesting the industrial survey was not disclosed.

Potomac Power Co. Makes Survey Of Moorefield Area Labor Potential

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—There is an average of 1,444 wives to 1,374 husbands in the Petersburg and Moorefield area, according to a recent labor potential survey conducted by the Potomac Light and Power Company.

Company officials were surprised by the result but discovered that this conformed with the national average. They offered no explanation of why this is so in the nation.

The survey was one of many taken in communities in four different states. Approximately 30 per cent of the population within a 15 mile radius of Moorefield was interviewed. One hundred per cent coverage of the two towns was included in the survey.

A total of 4,806 persons was questioned, of which 2,602 were males and 2,293 females. There were 1,777 men working and 323 employed women. A total of 233 men was unemployed and 498 potential working women were not holding jobs.

When questioned, 1,244 of the 2,602 men were interested in new jobs and 663 females of 2,293 interviewed would react favorably to employment offers.

The survey result was projected to include total population within the 15-mile radius based on the 30 per cent enumeration. The projected figures gave a total population of 14,896 and showed 776 men and 1,660 women unemployed.

The name of the company requesting the industrial survey was not disclosed.

Real Estate Bill To End "Closed Shop" Introduced

Whitworth Attacks Experience Proviso

A bill to end what he termed the "closed shop in the real estate business" was introduced at the afternoon session of the House of Delegates yesterday by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Delegation.

The measure, which would be state-wide, would eliminate a provision in a state law passed by the Legislature in 1945 requiring an individual to have two years' experience in selling real estate for a licensed broker before he becomes eligible to take an examination for his own broker's license.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Licenses and Commissions.

Unless the present law is changed Whitworth said, the real estate business in Maryland will eventually be confined to one or two families throughout the state.

In small communities, he declared, the law is tending to eliminate competition and to limit the real estate business to those already engaged in it.

Whitworth said his bill would eliminate the two-year experience provision but would not change the present examination requirement. The examination is held by the Real Estate Commission in Baltimore at periodic intervals, depending on the number of applicants.

It consists of 100 standard questions on the principles of real estate transactions.

Whitworth said the House Ways and Means Committee, to which he was appointed last week, will hold an organization meeting today at 11:30 a. m.

A similar meeting of the House Judiciary Committee is scheduled at the same time. Delegates William H. Geppert and Noel Speir Cook are members of that committee. They were also appointed last week.

The House will convene today at 1:30 p. m.

Bank Building To Be Remodeled

The old Citizens Bank Building on the corner of South Centre and Baltimore Streets is to undergo a "face lifting" soon after January 31 when the Holly Shops take over most of the premises, it was learned here yesterday.

Presently the building houses the Darling Shop, Cumberland Liquor Store and the Ormond Hosiery Shop on the street floor and offices and a dance studio on the upper floors, but all tenants have been given until the end of the month to vacate.

Morris Lapidus, New York architect, is preparing plans for the remodeling. When completed the Holly Shops will occupy most of the building with Ormond Hosiery Shop occupying the space now occupied by the Cumberland Liquor Store plus some additional space in the rear and part of the present hosiery shop, according to Arthur H. Goodman, New York, hosiery shop president.

Louis Seder, operator of the Cumberland Liquor Store will move to the Lear and Oliver storeroom, 37 North Centre Street, on or about February 1. The Darling Shop plans to move to the location of the Taylor Shop.

Elderly Man Is Assaulted In Robbery Attempt

Police Seek Two Young Attackers

City Police were searching early this morning for two young men who asaulted and attempted to rob a 72-year-old man late last night on Kelly Boulevard.

Detective Ernest M. Powell identified the victim as George Yeager, 74 Greene Street. He said Yeager told him he was on his way to work at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant when the pair accosted him.

One of the men, Yeager said, approached him when he was about 30 feet from the Boulevard Apartments at 11:11 p. m. The youth, he related, ordered "Give me your money."

Yeager drew back an umbrella he was carrying to strike the youth, but the man struck him with his fist, knocking him to the ground, he told Powell. The youth and his companion, who had remained in the background, then fled toward downtown Cumberland.

Yeager went to the Boulevard Apartments where a resident notified police. Yeager was then treated at the Kelly first aid station for a slight injury to his left ear.

The guard told Powell he was carrying a sum of money at the time but his attacker made no attempt to get it, running away immediately after knocking him down.

Powell said he had obtained only a meager description of the pair, but added they apparently were not traveling in a car.

Officers James E. Brown, Kenneth W. Morrissey, John G. Powers and C. W. Thompson assisted in the investigation.

A company spokesman said less than 50 workers will be affected by the layoffs which began last week and will continue over approximately a month.

The layoffs, however, are much less than those which occurred early last year, when some 200 were furloughed in February and March. Most of those workers were later taken back.

Workers remaining on the payroll at the end of the month will not be more than 50 less than the total of last March, it was explained.

The plant is now operating on a four-day week and is looking forward to five-day operations within a few weeks.

Garrett Countians Take Prizes In Annual Maryland Potato Show

The winners were William, Richard and Robert DeBerry, Oakland, and Robert Harvey, Swanton. Other winners were J. Willard Toadvine, Salisbury; Walden and Leroy Burther, Boonsboro; Carl Smith, Salisbury; Leah Jane Toadvine, Salisbury; Richard Holter, Jefferson; Mrs. Robert Williams, Salisbury, and Calvin A. Humphreys, Salisbury.

At the convention the president of the American Farm Bureau, Allan B. Kline, told the state Farm Bureau convention that the "fixed" price supports now in effect could lead to "stabilized poverty." He outlined an alternate sliding scale of supports recommended to Congress by his organization.

He told the formers further that "it's all right to ask for water wings, but let's throw them away when we don't need them any longer." He said that while some farmers want the Government to "tow them all the way to shore," the same ones want to jump right back in when they learn of the complicated and expensive procedure involved.

Kline declared that "Governments, as such, do not furnish goods and services to the people. Governments only distribute. The people produce, and the people only get what they produce."

H. S. Leaverton, State Bureau President, called for opposition to centralized control of farm programs in Washington.

"We believe that farm programs should be developed and controlled by farmers and that Federal employes in Washington should be our servants and not our bosses."

He corrected what he called a false impression that high food costs

Snow And Rain Strike Tri-State Area As Temperatures Decline

Snow and rain, accompanied by dropping temperatures, struck the Tri-State area last night.

State Police advised motorists to use chains for travel west of Frostburg, but local transportation concerns reported roads east of the city were clear.

Temperatures, although not low, began falling rather sharply at about 9 p. m. At Oakland the temperature was just below freezing, while Deal and Confluence, Pa., reported 32 degrees.

Roads, although slightly slippery in some spots, were not considered dangerous by State Police, and no highway accidents were reported in the area.

Rain fell in most spots during the day and turned to snow later at night. Temperatures were not low enough anywhere in the area to cause the wet roads to freeze over.

Snow was reported at Frostburg, the George's Creek area, Altamont, Terra Alta, W. Va., Deal, Rockwood, Connellsville and Confluence, Bedford and Somerset, Pa., and Romney, W. Va., while a mixture of rain and snow fell in Cumberland. Elkins and Thomas, W. Va., reported light rains late last night.

From 9 to 10:30 p. m. the temperature at Altamont dropped from 38 to 34 degrees and similar drops were noted throughout the area. The lowest temperature reported was at Somerset, where the mercury stood at 29 degrees at 10:45 p. m. Slight fog was reported at Romney.

Very little snow was reported at points east of Cumberland, but snow flurries were seen at Sideling Hill Mountain. Roads between Cumberland and Washington were termed "good and dry."

Vets' Bonus Bill Meets Opposition

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Opposition among his own party members made uncertain today the fate of a veterans' bonus plan backed by Senate Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany).

Prior to the session Kimble had announced he would sponsor a measure to pay $500 to any man or woman who served in the armed forces during World War II.

The payments would be financed from sales tax revenues, by way of a state bond issue.

Among the opponents of the proposal — which has not yet been drafted into bill form—was Senator Hoff (R-Carroll), chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Hoff, who himself is a veteran, said that "I am not in favor of bonuses for veterans who do not need them. If it develops that any state money is available for veterans it should go toward the improvement of housing conditions for veterans who need housing, or to some worthy purpose for needy veterans."

Kimble said he is pledged to veterans' groups in Allegany County to push the bonus plan. He told fellow senators that they "would be surprised" at the number of house Democrats who looked with favor on it.

Local Office Investigated 277 Social Security Number Errors Last Month

Investigation of 277 social security number errors on reports filed by employers of this area consumed part of the time of two employes in his office last month, J. W. Robertson, manager of the local Social Security office said yesterday.

Over and above the time spent in the local office, each investigation place additional burdens on the bookkeeping departments of the Social Security Administration and the employers involved, Robertson said. In most instances time spent in correcting these errors exceeds the time spent in preparing the original report.

Robertson said that although these errors fall into two categories, the same remedy will cure both. "If an employer will insist on actually seeing the social security card as soon as a new employe goes to work, he is certain first, of getting the social security number for each employe and," he emphasized, "second, he is also certain of getting the correct social security number."

"Social security payments," Robertson continued, "are based on the worker having credit for at least $50 in wages in a specified number of reporting periods. Therefore, the decision to pay or not to pay social security benefits can, and sometimes does, hinge upon whether a worker finally got credit for a relatively small amount of wages which were reported incorrectly by his employer. By the same token, benefit checks are smaller when some wages are not posted to the workers account."

Robertson pointed out that while most employers are making proper reports, the relatively few who turn in incorrect or incomplete reports are endangering the social security protection for which they and their employees have paid.

Respite Granted In Phone Rate Increase Hearing

City And State Ask Time To Map Argument

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—The city and state obtained a two-week postponement of the telephone rate case today to map opposition against Chesapeake and Potomac's request for an increase.

The telephone company first presented to the Public Service Commission its case for the $4,000,000 temporary "emergency" hike. Top executives of the utility testified.

When the C. and P. had done, People's Counsel Philip H. Dorsey, Jr., requested the postponement on behalf of the city of Baltimore, which earlier had sought dismissal of the increase petition, and the State of Maryland.

They needed time, explained Dorsey, to go over financial exhibits submitted by the utility, and to prepare for counter - argument and cross-examination of witnesses.

Temporary Boost At Issue

At issue today was only the question of temporary rate increases. The telephone company also has pending a request for a permanent boost that would bring in an estimated $6,000,000 annually.

The company's contentions before the PSC today were briefly these:

1. An unprecedented expansion program and soaring labor costs have brought on sharply reduced earnings, and currently these are only about a three per cent return on the firm's investment.

2. That percentage does not constitute a "reasonable return."

3. A rate increase granted by the PSC in 1947 allowed a 5½ per cent return, but the raise failed to produce it.

Such were the statements by W. G. Morrel, vice president and manager of Chesapeake and Potomac, and they also formed the main theme of an opening speech by Clarence W. Miles, utility counsel.

Morrel said the company's present investment in plant and property was about $142,000,000 with 547,000 telephones and 404,000 subscribers served by it throughout Maryland.

As earnings fell since the beginning of 1948, the expansion program necessitated by public demand was going ahead full steam, he said, and "in the next few years our gross construction will amount to at least $60,000,000."

The argument that the construction program created a need for a rate hike was assailed—even before it was developed in company testimony—by John Ghingher, assistant city solicitor of Baltimore.

Speaking in support of his unsuccessful motion to dismiss, Ghingher declared it "is clear they don't expect to finance the construction from earnings."

The only thing additional revenues would bring, he contended, would be "payment of greater dividends to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company," C. and P's parent concern.

A. T. and T. not even being a Maryland corporation, the Baltimore official continued, the requested emergency relief would not be "in the public interest" as claimed in the telephone company's petition.

People's Counsel Concurs

Dorsey, the PSC's People's Counsel, concurred in these arguments, pleading with the commission not to make "this wealthy offspring of a wealthy parent the fairhaired child of the commisssion."

The commission turned down the motion, presented at the outset, because it had heard no evidence as yet but left open future consideration of the motion.

Miles countered that C. and P. certainly was not "wealthy," and that it could not be expected to operate under "confiscatory rates."

His first witness, Morrel, noted that in 1939 C. and P. earnings were about $3,100,000 on a plant investment of slightly less than $60,000,000. In 1947, the plant investment had jumped to about $95,000,000 but net operating income was up to only $3,706,000, including the increase allowed by the PSC in that year.

"Today the situation is even more aggravated," he went on, "with plant investment up to $142,000,000 while the dollars of net operating income have remained constant at the 3.7 million level."

Tables submitted as company exhibits showed that the "increase in telephone rates has been relatively small" in comparison with mounting prices in other fields.

Morrel said while the temporary relief request was based on the 5½ per cent return figure set by the PSC in 1947, the company would ask for a higher return rate in its request for a permanent revision of its rates.

Economists Studying Finances

Other company witnesses testifying today were Truman C. Rumberger, general commercial manager, and Edgar R. Koogle, auditor.

Rumberger said the proposed emergency rates would boost monthly subscribers bills in Baltimore between $1.50 and $1.75, in the counties from 25 cents to 75 cents, and for business service from 50 cents to $1.50.

Koogle, who disclosed that federal income taxes now amount to $1,883,000, attributed the reduced company earnings, like Morrel, to plant expansion and increased labor costs.

Hearings will resume January 28.

Real Estate Bill To End "Closed Shop" Introduced

Whitworth Attacks Experience Proviso

A bill to end what he termed the "closed shop in the real estate business" was introduced at the afternoon session of the House of Delegates yesterday by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Delegation.

The measure, which would be state-wide, would eliminate a provision in a state law passed by the Legislature in 1945 requiring an individual to have two years' experience in selling real estate for a licensed broker before he becomes eligible to take an examination for his own broker's license.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Licenses and Commissions.

Unless the present law is changed Whitworth said, the real estate business in Maryland will eventually be confined to one or two families throughout the state.

In small communities, he declared, the law is tending to eliminate competition and to limit the real estate business to those already engaged in it.

Whitworth said his bill would eliminate the two-year experience provision but would not change the present examination requirement. The examination is held by the Real Estate Commission in Baltimore at periodic intervals, depending on the number of applicants.

It consists of 100 standard questions on the principles of real estate transactions.

Whitworth said the House Ways and Means Committee, to which he was appointed last week, will hold an organization meeting today at 11:30 a. m.

A similar meeting of the House Judiciary Committee is scheduled at the same time. Delegates William H. Geppert and Noel Speir Cook are members of that committee. They were also appointed last week.

The House will convene today at 1:30 p. m.

Specific bequests were made to Nina J. Conway, New Kensington, Pa., and Mrs. Catherine Lippold, this city.

The document was signed by Conway October 1, 1948, and witnessed by Gorman E. Getty, Ethel McCarty and Angela Senkbeil.

Bank Building To Be Remodeled

The old Citizens Bank Building on the corner of South Centre and Baltimore Streets is to undergo a "face lifting" soon after January 31 when the Holly Shops take over most of the premises, it was learned here yesterday.

Presently the building houses the Darling Shop, Cumberland Liquor Store and the Ormond Hosiery Shop on the street floor and offices and a dance studio on the upper floors, but all tenants have been given until the end of the month to vacate.

Morris Lapidus, New York architect, is preparing plans for the remodeling. When completed the Holly Shops will occupy most of the building with Ormond Hosiery Shop occupying the space now occupied by the Cumberland Liquor Store plus some additional space in the rear and part of the present hosiery shop, according to Arthur H. Goodman, New York, hosiery shop president.

Louis Seder, operator of the Cumberland Liquor Store will move to the Lear and Oliver storeroom, 37 North Centre Street, on or about February 1. The Darling Shop plans to move to the location of the Taylor Shop.

The Wright - Richardson Company, which has office space on an upper floor, will move to the newly remodeled Union Street County Building, according to Hunter B. Helfrich.

The Winter Dance Studio also is planning to move, it was learned, but Mrs. Winter could not be contacted last night for information.

Weather

Vindicated weathermen all over the country must have sat down with satisfied smiles as snow finally consented to fall last night. Whether or not the flakes would take hold was still questionable, but a low temperature of 33 degrees was registered at 10 p. m. and the thermometer was still going down. The maximum temperature was 42 and precipitation only totalled .03 inch. However, the predicters have reinforced themselves for today and promise only sleet or rain with slightly colder weather.

Elderly Man Is Assaulted In Robbery Attempt

Police Seek Two Young Attackers

City Police were searching early this morning for two young men who asaulted and attempted to rob a 72-year-old man late last night on Kelly Boulevard.

Detective Ernest M. Powell identified the victim as George Yeager, 74 Greene Street. He said Yeager told him he was on his way to work at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant when the pair accosted him.

One of the men, Yeager said, approached him when he was about 30 feet from the Boulevard Apartments at 11:11 p. m. The youth, he related, ordered "Give me your money."

Yeager drew back an umbrella he was carrying to strike the youth, but the man struck him with his fist, knocking him to the ground, he told Powell. The youth and his companion, who had remained in the background, then fled toward downtown Cumberland.

Yeager went to the Boulevard Apartments where a resident notified police. Yeager was then treated at the Kelly first aid station for a slight injury to his left ear.

The guard told Powell he was carrying a sum of money at the time but his attacker made no attempt to get it, running away immediately after knocking him down.

Powell said he had obtained only a meager description of the pair, but added they apparently were not traveling in a car.

Officers James E. Brown, Kenneth W. Morrissey, John G. Powers and C. W. Thompson assisted in the investigation.

Kelly Plant Plans Light Furloughs

Light furloughs, intended to bring plant production and hours of work into balance, are being made at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant her.

A company spokesman said less than 50 workers will be affected by the layoffs which began last week and will continue over approximately a month.

The layoffs, however, are much less than those which occurred early last year, when some 200 were furloughed in February and March. Most of those workers were later taken back.

Workers remaining on the payroll at the end of the month will not be more than 50 less than the total of last March, it was explained.

The plant is now operating on a four-day week and is looking forward to five-day operations within a few weeks.

Garrett Countians Take Prizes In Annual Maryland Potato Show

The winners were William, Richard and Robert DeBerry, Oakland, and Robert Harvey, Swanton. Other winners were J. Willard Toadvine, Salisbury; Walden and Leroy Burther, Boonsboro; Carl Smith, Salisbury; Leah Jane Toadvine, Salisbury; Richard Holter, Jefferson; Mrs. Robert Williams, Salisbury, and Calvin A. Humphreys, Salisbury.

At the convention the president of the American Farm Bureau, Allan B. Kline, told the state Farm Bureau convention that the "fixed" price supports now in effect could lead to "stabilized poverty." He outlined an alternate sliding scale of supports recommended to Congress by his organization.

He told the formers further that "it's all right to ask for water wings, but let's throw them away when we don't need them any longer." He said that while some farmers want the Government to "tow them all the way to shore," the same ones want to jump right back in when they learn of the complicated and expensive procedure involved.

Kline declared that "Governments, as such, do not furnish goods and services to the people. Governments only distribute. The people produce, and the people only get what they produce."

H. S. Leaverton, State Bureau President, called for opposition to centralized control of farm programs in Washington.

"We believe that farm programs should be developed and controlled by farmers and that Federal employes in Washington should be our servants and not our bosses."

He corrected what he called a false impression that high food costs

Snow And Rain Strike Tri-State Area As Temperatures Decline

Snow and rain, accompanied by dropping temperatures, struck the Tri-State area last night.

State Police advised motorists to use chains for travel west of Frostburg, but local transportation concerns reported roads east of the city were clear.

Temperatures, although not low, began falling rather sharply at about 9 p. m. At Oakland the temperature was just below freezing, while Deal and Confluence, Pa., reported 32 degrees.

Roads, although slightly slippery in some spots, were not considered dangerous by State Police, and no highway accidents were reported in the area.

Rain fell in most spots during the day and turned to snow later at night. Temperatures were not low enough anywhere in the area to cause the wet roads to freeze over.

Snow was reported at Frostburg, the George's Creek area, Altamont, Terra Alta, W. Va., Deal, Rockwood, Connellsville and Confluence, Bedford and Somerset, Pa., and Romney, W. Va., while a mixture of rain and snow fell in Cumberland. Elkins and Thomas, W. Va., reported light rains late last night.

From 9 to 10:30 p. m. the temperature at Altamont dropped from 38 to 34 degrees and similar drops were noted throughout the area. The lowest temperature reported was at Somerset, where the mercury stood at 29 degrees at 10:45 p. m. Slight fog was reported at Romney.

Very little snow was reported at points east of Cumberland, but snow flurries were seen at Sideling Hill Mountain. Roads between Cumberland and Washington were termed "good and dry."

Vets' Bonus Bill Meets Opposition

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Opposition among his own party members made uncertain today the fate of a veterans' bonus plan backed by Senate Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany).

Prior to the session Kimble had announced he would sponsor a measure to pay $500 to any man or woman who served in the armed forces during World War II.

The payments would be financed from sales tax revenues, by way of a state bond issue.

Among the opponents of the proposal — which has not yet been drafted into bill form—was Senator Hoff (R-Carroll), chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Hoff, who himself is a veteran, said that "I am not in favor of bonuses for veterans who do not need them. If it develops that any state money is available for veterans it should go toward the improvement of housing conditions for veterans who need housing, or to some worthy purpose for needy veterans."

Kimble said he is pledged to veterans' groups in Allegany County to push the bonus plan. He told fellow senators that they "would be surprised" at the number of house Democrats who looked with favor on it.

Local Office Investigated 277 Social Security Number Errors Last Month

Investigation of 277 social security number errors on reports filed by employers of this area consumed part of the time of two employes in his office last month, J. W. Robertson, manager of the local Social Security office said yesterday.

Over and above the time spent in the local office, each investigation place additional burdens on the bookkeeping departments of the Social Security Administration and the employers involved, Robertson said. In most instances time spent in correcting these errors exceeds the time spent in preparing the original report.

Robertson said that although these errors fall into two categories, the same remedy will cure both. "If an employer will insist on actually seeing the social security card as soon as a new employe goes to work, he is certain first, of getting the social security number for each employe and," he emphasized, "second, he is also certain of getting the correct social security number."

"Social security payments," Robertson continued, "are based on the worker having credit for at least $50 in wages in a specified number of reporting periods. Therefore, the decision to pay or not to pay social security benefits can, and sometimes does, hinge upon whether a worker finally got credit for a relatively small amount of wages which were reported incorrectly by his employer. By the same token, benefit checks are smaller when some wages are not posted to the workers account."

Robertson pointed out that while most employers are making proper reports, the relatively few who turn in incorrect or incomplete reports are endangering the social security protection for which they and their employees have paid.

Respite Granted In Phone Rate Increase Hearing

City And State Ask Time To Map Argument

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP)—The city and state obtained a two-week postponement of the telephone rate case today to map opposition against Chesapeake and Potomac's request for an increase.

The telephone company first presented to the Public Service Commission its case for the $4,000,000 temporary "emergency" hike. Top executives of the utility testified.

When the C. and P. had done, People's Counsel Philip H. Dorsey, Jr., requested the postponement on behalf of the city of Baltimore, which earlier had sought dismissal of the increase petition, and the State of Maryland.

They needed time, explained Dorsey, to go over financial exhibits submitted by the utility, and to prepare for counter - argument and cross-examination of witnesses.

Temporary Boost At Issue

At issue today was only the question of temporary rate increases. The telephone company also has pending a request for a permanent boost that would bring in an estimated $6,000,000 annually.

The company's contentions before the PSC today were briefly these:

1. An unprecedented expansion program and soaring labor costs have brought on sharply reduced earnings, and currently these are only about a three per cent return on the firm's investment.

2. That percentage does not constitute a "reasonable return."

3. A rate increase granted by the PSC in 1947 allowed a 5½ per cent return, but the raise failed to produce it.

Such were the statements by W. G. Morrel, vice president and manager of Chesapeake and Potomac, and they also formed the main theme of an opening speech by Clarence W. Miles, utility counsel.

Morrel said the company's present investment in plant and property was about $142,000,000 with 547,000 telephones and 404,000 subscribers served by it throughout Maryland.

As earnings fell since the beginning of 1948, the expansion program necessitated by public demand was going ahead full steam, he said, and "in the next few years our gross construction will amount to at least $60,000,000."

The argument that the construction program created a need for a rate hike was assailed—even before it was developed in company testimony—by John Ghingher, assistant city solicitor of Baltimore.

Speaking in support of his unsuccessful motion to dismiss, Ghingher declared it "is clear they don't expect to finance the construction from earnings."

The only thing additional revenues would bring, he contended, would be "payment of greater dividends to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company," C. and P's parent concern.

A. T. and T. not even being a Maryland corporation, the Baltimore official continued, the requested emergency relief would not be "in the public interest" as claimed in the telephone company's petition.

People's Counsel Concurs

Dorsey, the PSC's People's Counsel, concurred in these arguments, pleading with the commission not to make "this wealthy offspring of a wealthy parent the fairhaired child of the commission."

The commission turned down the motion, presented at the outset, because it had heard no evidence as yet but left open future consideration of the motion.

Miles countered that C. and P. certainly was not "wealthy," and that it could not be expected to operate under "confiscatory rates."

His first witness, Morrel, noted that in 1939 C. and P. earnings were about $3,100,000 on a plant investment of slightly less than $60,000,000. In 1947, the plant investment had jumped to about $95,000,000 but net operating income was up to only $3,706,000, including the increase allowed by the PSC in that year.

"Today the situation is even more aggravated," he went on, "with plant investment up to $142,000,000 while the dollars of net operating income have remained constant at the 3.7 million level."

Tables submitted as company exhibits showed that the "increase in telephone rates has been relatively small" in comparison with mounting prices in other fields.

Morrel said while the temporary relief request was based on the 5½ per cent return figure set by the PSC in 1947, the company would ask for a higher return rate in its request for a permanent revision of its rates.

Economists Studying Finances

He disclosed economists were studying the financial picture of the company and their findings would be part of its case for the permanent boost.

Other company witnesses testifying today were Truman C. Rumberger, general commercial manager, and Edgar R. Koogle, auditor.

Rumberger said the proposed emergency rates would boost monthly subscribers bills in Baltimore between $1.50 and $1.75, in the counties from 25 cents to 75 cents, and for business service from 50 cents to $1.50.

Koogle, who disclosed that federal income taxes now amount to $1,883,000, attributed the reduced company earnings, like Morrel, to plant expansion and increased labor costs.

Hearings will resume January 28.
